Contradicts Statement That He Published Magazine Articles Without Approval, But General Patrick Says He Did Not Review Them.

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 2—The disputes over charges that Brigadier General Mitchell disobeyed orders in publishing a recent series of magazine articles on air power became entangled today in a new maze of contradictions and counter charges

Secretary Weeks has told the house aircraft committee that the articles were published in violation of an order by President Coolidge Today General Mitchell advised the house aircraft committee that the president had given his consent, conditioned upon that of Major General Patrick, the army air service chief, which subsequently was given But General Patrick in turn declared he had consented only because General Mitchell told him that the president had approved

A copy of a letter from the president sent to the committee by General Mitchell gave assent to the publication only if approved by our superior officers When advised of the statement of General Mitchell that such approval had been given by him General Patrick said he never saw the articles before publication nor was he shown the president's letter leaving the decision to war department officials

Said Permission Given

All I know about the incident General Patrick said is that General Mitchell told me after he had been to the white house that he had been given permission by the president to publish the article I said of course if the president has given permission there can be no objection by this office

After the conversation with General Mitchell I heard nothing more about the matter the articles were published before I ever saw them

General Patrick said General Mitchell had told him at the same time that the articles contained nothing but facts and that controversial statements would be eliminated

Secretary Weeks recalled that he had given orders long ago that General Mitchell should submit to the war department any articles he might write containing an expression of opinion

It would seem, his letter added that if I had violated orders my attention should have been drawn to them long before the present time and action taken accordingly

General Mitchell's letter was read to the committee by Chairman Lampert just before Rear Admiral Bradley A Fiske retired took the stand to give his opinions as to the relative value of aircraft

Asked To Write Articles

An editor of the Saturday Evening Post the general said asked him last November to write a series of articles on air power and later accompanied him to the white house to lay the project before the president

The president reiterated his great interest in aeronautics which he has always shown the letter continued and said he considered a series of articles on this subject to be beneficial and that I should retain the privilege of my connection as an officer the chief of the air service

I immediately reported to the chief of the air service what had occurred and requested the permission to write the articles He gave permission then for me to write them No mention was made at all about submitting copies

The pursuit extended through Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma and finally ended in Gulfport, Miss., last December with the capture of Ringer Bender, however, was not taken at that time and has since been a fugitive.

Flagg Announces Baby's Arrival In Artist Fashion

NEW YORK, March 2.—James Montgomery Flagg, artist, is the father of a daughter, whose arrival he has announced in true artist fashion.

Mr. Flagg was official military artist of New York state during the war and he adopted the patriotic motif in the announcement cards. An eagle, instead of a stork, holds a baby bundled in blankets and on either side of the eagle stands a soldier firing a salute. The card:

"Mrs. James Montgomery Flagg announces the birth of an American citizen, Faith. Also James Montgomery Flagg is awarded honorable mention, February 15, 1925. Also gold medal awarded Dr. Harry Britenstool."

Mr. Flagg married Miss Dorothy Wadman last May. She had been a model for many of his magazine covers.

CONGRESS JAM HOLDING TIGHT

With But Forty-Eight Hours of Session Remaining, Senate Is Scene of Disorders At Opening of Monday Meeting.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON March 2.—The pre-adjournment jam in congress swung to its crest today as the session entered its last forty-eight hours.

As usual the principal crush was in the senate and as soon as that body convened members were on their feet all over the chamber seeking unanimous consent for consideration of pet measures. Objections were immediate and vociferous.

So much disorder resulted that Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, asked that the sergeant-at-arms "be brought into the chamber and kept here until Wednesday noon to maintain order."

President Cummins stopped proceedings until a semblance of decorum had been restored.

One threat of last minute trouble was eased by an agreement in conference on the Spanish-Springs section of the interior appropriation bill, but many other obstacles remained to disturb the peace of the leaders.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 2. — The president has authority under the constitution to pardon persons held in contempt of court in criminal cases, the Supreme court held today in a decision upholding the pardon granted by President Coolidge to Philip Grossman of Chicago.

The court ordered Grossman discharged from the Chicago house of correction where he was sent by Judges Carpenter and Wilson. He already is out on bond, granted by the court pending today's decision.

Unidentified Man Dies of Injuries In Omaha Hospital

OMAHA, March 2.—The body of an unidentified man lies in an Omaha morgus today while police are checking laundry marks in an effort to establish his identity.

The man was found unconscious in a road and died an hour after being taken to a hospital. There were bruises on his body. The only tagible clew to his identity are the initials "T. G. K." on his shirt. Police believe the man may have been hit by an autoist who failed to stop or else was slugged and robbed. He apparently was 40 years old.

Minister Discuss Lenten Observance

Lent is the period when people test themselves to see whether they are in sympathy with the period of the humiliation of Christ, and his death on Calvary, Rev. Charles S. Bream, pastor of Grace English Lutheran church, told members of the Lincoln Ministerial association, meeting Monday morning at the City library.

There was a time, the speaker said, when Lent was not as generally observed as now. It is coming into greater favor each year, he added.

Discussion of the address brought out that there has been criticism of the practice. Dr. S. Mills Hayes, however, declared that the Lenten season adds generously to the devotions of the Christian world.

WAR OFFICIALS AND INDUSTRIAL LEADERS MEET

Rail Officials And Business Men Confer At Capital With Army Officers To Work Out Plans For Co-Operation In Time Of War.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Rail transportation officials and business leaders met with war department officials here today to work out plans for national defense by which wartime endeavors of business, transportation and government may be co-ordinated into a workable unit.

The gathering was addressed by Secretary Weeks and Maj. General John L. Hines, chief of staff, who outlined the defense plans tentatively mapped out by the department and the part assigned to transportation and business agencies.

Secretary Weeks emphasized the vital need of transportation to the national defense and explained that armed force depended for its effectiveness upon movement.

"If our armed forces should be compelled at some future date to defend the continental territory of the United States, the railways of the United States would assume importance," the secretary said.

Must Work Together.

"You know as well as I that it will not be possible for the railroads and the army to co-operate effectively immediately upon the occurrence of an unfortunate emergency unless they spend some time together preparing and developing plans for such co-operation. That is why we have asked you to be here."

Hines described more in detail what services to national defense the army expected the transportation lines to render in an emergency and pointed out something of how they would be expected to function.

"Our field service regulations," General Hines said, "now definitely assign the operation and maintenance of railroads in the theater of operations under the control of the commander-in-chief to the railway engineer troops.

Unified Control Plan.

"On the other hand, it is proposed that the actual operation of the railroads in the zone of the interior shall be in charge of the railroads themselves under such a plan for unified control as shall be agreed upon by the railroads and the government. How the railroads in the zone of the interior should be operated, you gentlemen will have to determine in the study of your side of the plan.

"We intend that in time of emergency, all requisitions on the railroads in the zone of the interior shall emanate from a single unit of our organization, namely, the transportation corps. The officials of that body will be vested with sole authority to call for equipment to meet the demands for the movement of men, animals and material. Competition among army shippers will be eliminated.

HIGHER BID FOR SMITH BUSINESS

Byrne - Hammer Company Makes Offer of Million and Three-quarters.

OMAHA March 2.—A bid of $1,725,000 for the assets of the M. E. Smith company, defunct Omaha wholesale dry goods firm, was made to referee in bankruptcy John U. Loomis in Federal court today by the Byrne - Hammer company, Omaha, wholesale dry goods firm. The bid eclipses that made by L. F. Crofoot and several Omaha business men by $10,000.

Both bids specify that they must be considered withdrawn if not accepted by March 5.

In addition to the financial differences of the two bids the Crofoot offer specially states that it is the inention of the Omaha business men if the offer is accepted, to continue the company as an Omaha institution and the bids include leasehold, good will, patent rights and trademarks. The Byrne-Hammer bid makes no statement of intent insofar as continuance of the company is concerned, but specifically excludes the rights of leasehold, good will, patent rights and trademarks.

As an evidence of good faith both bidders have deposited a certified check for $200,000 with Referee Loomis.

Motor Vehicle Carriers Win In Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, March 2.—States cannot refuse to permit motor vehicles, for hire as common carriers in interstate commerce to use its highways, it was held today by the supreme court.

Opportunity's Knock

Defeat Your Fears

Don't let the thought of fear either clog or dog you. Stage-fright only robs the player of his right to forceful personality.

Fears dwarf the mind of a man so that failure can easily claim him for her own. Fear destroys possibilities where skill and ability might otherwise win.

False fear forces real misery—and empty terror is just as devastating as the real kind.

Says New Method Heals Rupture

Kansas City Doctor's Discovery Makes Truss Or Operation Unnecessary.

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases is the latest accomplishment of Dr. Andrews, the well known Hernia Specialist of Kansas City, Mo.

The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and heals a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of the Star who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.

EARTHQUAKE IS STILL MYSTERY

Scientists Unable to Determine Exact Location of Center of Shocks.

Caused by Slipping of Huge Rock Mass: New York Towers Uninjured.

REPORT FIVE DEAD.

QUEBEC, March 2.—Five persons are reported to have died from fright or by being struck by falling debris at points along the route of the earthquake Saturday night, although no confirmation could be obtained.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 2.—Scientists labored Sunday to determine the cause and the center of the internal disturbance which caused the earth to roll and toss in its bed Saturday night.

Seismograms at Fordham and Harvard universities were literally "off the" the wave and it was impossible to determine the center. An appeal was made to Oxford observatory in London. Scientists there said the quake had been registered so imperfectly that sufficient evidence for a statement did not exist. A Canadian observatory placed the center at the mouth of the Saginaw river in Michigan.

M. B. Hill, in charge of seismograph at the Museum of Natural History, stated that the tremors were caused by the slipping of a rock mass along the line known as Logan's "fault," to which the last earthquake experienced here in 1914, was attributed.

A recent published opinion of Dr. David Todd, that an earthquake was inevitable in New York because increased weight was constantly being placed upon a "fault" which lies in the bed rock directly beneath the city, was recalled. The fact that the tide Saturday reached its lowest point was considered as having possible connection with the tremors. Efforts to connect the quake with the recent total eclipse were scoffed at by scientists who said that danger of an earthquake was least during a total eclipse.

Debate Is Renewed.

The debated question as to whether the skyscrapers of New York will ever be tumbled down upon the heads of its millions of inhabitants was renewed by the tremors. Opponents of the idea claim that the solid bed rock upon which the city is built constitute an effective safety device.

Others hold Dr. Todd's fear of a final cave-in of the fault within the rocks. They point out that the yawn and shudders of the earth Saturday night fulfilled Dr. Todd's recent prediction that a major disaster here would be preceded by a "gentle quivering coming from nowhere."

Frightened by Miss Rader's screams for help, the bandits fled down the stairway and although closely pursued by a number of spectators, escaped in the crowd in front of the theatre.

Johnson County Pioneers Married Fifty Years Ago

Special to The Star.

TECUMSEH, Neb., March 2.—Mr. and Mrs. John M. Platt, for years residents of Johnson county, celebrated their golden wedding at Thune, Neb., on February 17. They were married in Tecumseh fifty years ago, the marriage being by the late Rev. R. D. Barrow, early day preacher and missionary worker of the Christian church in Nebraska.

The ceremony was performed at the old Delmonico hotel, years ago dismantled and the young couple drove from their homes on Spring creek, to the city in a brand new lumber wagon, being accompanied by Ute Lester and his intended bride. Miss Emma Platt, Lancelord Pat Koehler of the hotel prepared an especially good dinner for the event, the menu including a real treat in those days, corned beef and cabbage. Mr. Platt's father was the late Peter Platt of this county who brought his family to Johnson county with an ox team in 1871. The son, John broke many acres of prairie here with the ox team, the family settling on a homestead.

The bride of fifty years ago was Miss Susan Jones, and she was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Jones, also early settlers and homesteaders in this county. They drove here from Illinois in 1867. At the celebration which was held at the home of a son, Daniel Platt, all of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Platt were present with the exception of one son, Guy Platt of Dunbar. Hear Arguments In Parent's Suit Against Circus Arguments were heard in supreme court Monday morning in the appeal of Ringling Brothers' circus from a $7,500 judgment awarded against it in Lancaster district court to the parents of Jacob Tavlinsky, 16, who left his home to join the circus.

The parents, Charles and Julia Tavlinsky sought a judgment against the circus on the grounds that it had enticed the boy from home and deprived them of his companionship as well as his earnings.

W. B. Comstock, attorney for the boy's parents, told the court that Jacob went with the circus in 1922 following its showing in Lincoln. His parents tried to get him to return home. A year later the circus again showed in Lincoln and the suit was brought.

The boy at that time came to the home of his parents and objected to their filing of the suit but promised to leave the circus. He obtained permission to go back and explain to the management that he had not been responsible for the action, but did not return.

It was also alleged that the boy had been debauched and acquired bad habits while with the circus.

The attorney for the circus, told the court that it was simply another case of a boy running away from home and that the circus management had in no way been to blame. He declared that there was no evidence of efforts on the part of the circus management to entice the boy. He was merely attracted by the brilliance and romance of circus life.

PLAN HEARING IN RAIL TAX CASES

Hope To End Three Years Litigation In Suits Against State.

A final hearing in the tax assessment valuation suits brought against the state board of equalization by the Burlington, M. & St. L., Northwestern and Missouri Pacific railroads for the purpose of securing a reduction in the assessed valuation of their properties during the years 1920 to 1924 inclusive is expected to be held in federal court at Omaha.

The reduction by the railroads would cut into the state's revenues by nearly $1,000,000.

Suits involved are those of the Burlington, M. & St. L. and Northwestern for the years 1920, 1922 and 1923; The Northwestern and M. & St. L. for 1921 and the Missouri Pacific for 1924.

These have accumulated while it was being decided whether or not the railroads had a right to take their case into federal court.

It is hoped by the state that this three years accumulation of litigation will be cleared up now within a few months and an appropriation of $12,000 is contained in Governor McMullen's budget for the tax commissioner's department to cover.

The companies claim that their properties should be assessed on a valuation equal to that of farm lands, which they contend is some 40 per cent less than that placed on railroad property.

Suit Over Pollard Will Is Settled

The three cases brought in Federal court by Charles Pollard of Colorado against Tom, Taft and Inez Pollard of Saunders county have been dismissed on motion of the plaintiff, with prejudice to further action, a settlement having been made out of court.

Charles Pollard alleged that before the death of his father, John, in November, 1924, another son, Tom, used undue influence to get the father to set aside a large amount of real estate and mortgage property from the general estate and place it to the credit of Tom and his children. Charles claimed he was entitled to a fourth share of this property and demanded that the will be set aside and that an accounting be made.

Says New Method Heals Rupture

Kansas City Doctor's Discovery Makes Truss Or Operation Unnecessary.

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases is the latest accomplishment of Dr. Andrews, the well known Hernia Specialist of Kansas City, Mo.

The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and heals a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of the Star who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.

Scientists Unable to Determine Exact Location of Center of Shocks.

Caused by Slipping of Huge Rock Mass; New York Towers Uninjured.

REPORT FIVE DEAD.

QUEBEC, March 2.—Five persons are reported to have died from fright or by being struck by falling debris at points along the south shore during the earthquake Saturday night, although no confirmation could be obtained.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 2.—Scientists labored Sunday to determine the cause and the center of the internal disturbance which caused the earth to roll and toss in its bed Saturday night.

Seismographs at Fordham and Harvard universities were literally "on top" the wave and it was impossible to determine the center. An appeal was made to Oxford observatory in London. Scientists there said the quake had been registered so imperfectly that sufficient evidence for a statement did not exist. A Canadian observatory placed the center at the mouth of the Saginaw river in Michigan.

M. B. Hill, in charge of seismograph at the Museum of National Natural History, stated that the tremors were caused by the slipping of a rock mass along the line known as Logan's "fault," to which the last earthquake experienced here in 1914, was attributed.

A recent published opinion of Dr. David Todd, that an earthquake was inevitable in New York because increased weight was constantly being placed upon a "fault" which lies in the bed rock directly beneath the city, was recalled. The fact that the tide Saturday reached its lowest point was considered as having possible connection with the tremor. Efforts to connect the quake with the recent total eclipse were scoffed at by scientists who said that danger of an earthquake was least during a total eclipse.

Debate Is Renewed.

The debated question as to whether the skyscrapers of New York will ever be tumbled down upon the heads of its millions of inhabitants was renewed by the tremors. Opponents of the idea claim that the solid bed rock upon which the city is built constitute an effective safety device.

Others hold Dr. Todd's fear of a final cave-in of the fault within the rocks. They point out that the yawn and shudders of the earth Saturday night fulfilled Dr. Todd's recent prediction that a major disaster here would be preceded by a "gentle quivering coming from nowhere."

Astonished residents of the city and its environs continued to exchange experiences of the pranks played by the earth during its short awakening for a space estimated at from one and a half to two minutes.

The perplexities visited upon people in this section were repeated as the wave rolled on its journey from Sudbury, Canada, to Florence, S. C., and as far west as Chicago.

Tunes were played on crystal chandeliers, gold fish were washed from their bowls, chairs were rocked by an unseen hand, telephones tinkled but no voice answered and houses "rolled like ships in the ocean," amazed recipients of the earthquake shock said after the experiences had been digested by imagination.

Lincoln People Are Excited Over Karnak

"You Just Ought To See What This Remarkable Medicine Has Done For My Wife" Declares Well Known Firefighter.

RECOVERY AMAZES ALL HER FRIENDS

Mrs. Reisch Had Been a Very Sick Woman For Years And They Had Wasted a Small Fortune Trying To Get Relief.

East, West, North and South, all over town Lincoln people are taking Karnak, the remarkable new medicine now sold here by Harley Drug company.

Statement after statement is being made, each and every one substantiating the claims made for this great medicine. People in all walks of life are reporting amazing relief from troubles of long standing and others showing a quick return of energy, strength and normal weight after taking Karnak.

Among the many interesting reports received is one from J. P. Reisch, one of the most popular and well known City Firemen in Lincoln. Mr. Reisch tells of his wife's experience with Karnak in the following words:

"Karnak has surely been a blessing to our home. It's brought health back to my wife who has suffered so long and filled the entire household with happiness.

"Mrs. Reisch was a very sick woman for years and we couldn't find anything to help her. Oh, it was discouraging. She suffered night and day. Weak, sick and all rundown. She scarcely ate enough to feed a bird, and even that little bit would cause her to suffer for hours after with gas bloating, biliousness, headaches that almost drove her distracted and faint, dizzy spells. We spent hundreds of dollars every year trying to get her some relief, but it was just money wasted.

"Finally, some friends in St. Joe, Mo., wrote us about this wonderful medicine Karnak, and I phoned to every druggist in Lincoln, but none of them had it then. I was just on the point of sending to St. Joe for it when I learned that the Harley Drug Co. had a few bottles. You can bet I didn't waste any time getting down to their store, but I wasn't very hopeful of much good.

"Just imagine my surprise when after a few days on Karnak my wife began to pick up and feel a whole lot better. Karnak just seemed to work like magic and I began to notice a world of difference in her.

"Now she is like her old self. Her appetite is fine, she don't suffer from dyspepsia and stomach troubles any more and she has a good healthy look. In fact she is just like a different woman.

"All our friends and neighbors are amazed at seeing her looking and feeling so fine and we don't hesitate to tell them it was Karnak that did it. We are for Karnak 100 per cent at our house and you can send anyone to us and we will tell them all about what it did for Mrs. Reisch."

Try Karnak, yourself! If you are not benefited by the first two bottles the small purchase price will be returned to you. And, remember—Karnak Pills are an essential and vitally important part of the Karnak Treatment, especially if constipated.

Karnak is sold in Lincoln exclusively by the Harley Drug Co., and by leading druggist in every town. —Advertisement.

ANOTHER SUPERVISING BOARD

The long pending row over agricultural legislation has broken as a result of the statement issued by Chairman Carey, of the president's farm commission, denouncing the Dickinson bill.

As a result of the issues raised by Mr. Carey, it is certain there will be no agricultural legislation at this session which is about to end. It is likely to provide the high lights for the next session of congress.

Chairman Carey's statement with reference to the Dickinson bill is worthy of attention. As a substitute for the Capper-Haugen measure, it provides nothing further than to create an advisory agricultural council of fifty-members, who are to make two junkets to Washington each year and who wil receive $25 a day for their services for the time they put in. In addition the bill provides four $10,000 a year jobs for other advisors, who will work under the department of agricultural economics.

The Capper-Haugen measure, which the Dickinson bill superseded, placed supervisory restrictions upon co-operative marketing, and in the opinion of several competent farm workers would have been a backward step.

Most significant, however, is the attitude of the representatives of the various farm agencies with reference to the proposed legislation. Almost without exception these farm leaders object to both pieces of legislation. They indicate that they are now overburdened with advice. As a rule most of it has been worthless. And while they do not want to see another governmental agency created for the purpose of "advising" they are more positive in their opposition to a governmental agency interfering and meddling with the organizations which they have been instrumental in developing. Advice can be rejected but supervision cannot be overlooked or discounted.

The farm commission named by President Coolidge submitted specific recommendations. It points out there was no halfway zone between placing agriculture upon stilts, along with manufacturing, or in permitting it to work out its own salvation through the operation of natural economic laws. There were certain steps which could be taken, the commission found, which would be of immense benefit to agriculture. The first urgent need was lower transportation costs. The attitude of the administration with reference to railroad legislation is sufficiently well-known to preclude discussion. On the subject of co-operative marketing, the commission insisted that it should be encouraged. Presumably the Capper-Haugen bill represented the views of the commission. The fierce resentment against governmental interference in business provides a formidable barrier for any measure which would tend to revive abuses.

Those who are clamoring for agricultural legislation have overlooked the significance of the recent appointment of a new secretary of agriculture. President Jardine, of the Kansas Agricultural college, was one of the few executives of institutions of this character, who took a pronounced and bitter stand against the McNary Haugen bill. He has been and still is bitter opposed to any attempt to cure the farm situation through legislation. Mr. Coolidge was cognizant of this fact when he appointed Mr. Jardine to succeed the late Secretary Wallace. The president could not have taken a more definite method of communicating his ideas of farm legislation. There will be no artificial assistance for agriculture with Mr. Jardine directing the affairs of the federal department.

If the farmer secures relief from the government, it will be because some of the assistance now granted to industry is withdrawn. A revision of the tariff would tend to re-establish the parity between the farmer and the manufacturer.

The farmer is endeavoring to fight his own battle. He does not want any expert advice from a council of fifty at the taxpayers' expense. He is opposed to any supervisory boards or agencies which take more of the public funds. Either he is going to be subsidized by the government in the same fashion as the manufacturer now is or he isn't. He does not want to be fed hot air and supervisory boards.

A REVISED VERSION OF THE CHERRY TREE STORY.

What twisted idea led a number of young men in the Jamaica high school in Gotham to send out this invitation to a George Washington party?:

"Let's get the good fellows together and make believe Castillian Gardens at Lynbrook, L. I., is our fathers' cherry orchard. Our dear friend George set the example, so let's follow by 'cutting up' whatever cherry trees are left. The day is February twentieth, the bids are three and a half dollars. Whatever else is necessary (for instance, hatchets) you can have on your hips or any other convenient place."

Fathers and mothers of the young men and the young women are naturally indignant and are demanding that the principal of the school make an investigation with a view to punishing the guilty. Those who attended the party are insistent that no liquor was served notwithstanding the fact that the invitation seemingly indicated a dance spree at a public roadhouse.

On the cover of the invitations was a jovial George Washington with a hatchet in one hand standing beside a felled tree. Instead of cherries, the tree obtained bottles of various sizes and descriptions. Coupled with the wording of the invitation, the parents and the school authorities felt that an explanation is due from the organization which sponsored the party.

Youth is unthinking and careless but is it really as bad as this would seem to indicate. There are enough heartaches in the fact that young men and young women have so little respect for themselves and for their parents as to arrange a public dance at which liquor played the prominent part. But the thought that while thousands of boys and girls in the country were reciting the quaint little cherry tree story as a lesson in honesty, other young men and young women were twisting it to fit a liquor party, is sufficiently appalling to create the furore which it has. If there was not a drop of liquor at the dance, the invitations which were prepared constitute an insult to the patriotism of the country. Boys and girls and young men and young women must be taught the lesson of reverence.

KANSAS CITY CHANGES BOSSES.

With fewer than one-third of its qualified voters taking part in the election, Kansas City has decided to try out the city manager form of government. Next November it will elect a council of nine members, one of whom will serve as mayor. The council will employ the manager and turn the active direction of municipal affairs over to him.

Heretofore, Kansas City's government has been operated by an archaic system which was long ago discarded by most enlightened cities in the west. The mayor and other executive officers are elected every two years. The city council now consists of two branches, called an upper and a lower house, the members being elected by wards and on party tickets. As half of the membership holds over at each election, it is difficult, if not impossible, for the people to get what they want by voting for a change of administration.

Under this method of doing things, two party machines have been developed for the sole and only purpose of getting the offices and filling the appointive places with their henchmen. It made little difference to the citizens at large whether the republicans or the democrats won. In either event, the community was ruled by a little gang of politicians intent on feathering their own nests. Nothing could be done except through "the organization."

For years, the real dominating power in Kansas City's local government has been "Boss" Prendergast. Without his approval it was found exceedingly difficult to get anything through the two-house council. If one branch showed a little independence at times, the other could be relied on to do the boss's bidding. Naturally such conditions led to corruption and scandals which were constantly being aired in newspapers.

It is little wonder the voters of Kansas City have grown so disgusted with this Tammanyized system that those of them who felt interested enough to vote upon the proposition gave a majority in favor of trying something else. They doubtless felt that nothing could be worse than what they have. And so, the Kaw metropolis is going to try out the city manager plan.

In other words, the people of Kansas City are tired of their present boss and will welcome a new one. They have grown so used to autocracy that it will be nothing new to have the city government virtually run by one man.

It is to be hoped that things will notwork out in this instance as they did with the frogs who grew tired of King Log because of his do-nothingness and voted to have King Stork, a live go-getter, rule over them instead. The stork, it will be remembered, was exceedingly fond of a frog diet, and the mortality rate among the inhabitants increased so rapidly after he took charge that in a short time public sentiment veered back again to the side of King Log.

There is no question that Kansas City ought to have a new deal. It is one of the most progressive and virile communities in the United States, and it deserves something better than to be ruled after the fashion of a principality in the middle ages. If the move now being made does not bring the expected results, no doubt something else will be worked out later. The encouraging thing is that Kansas City has at last made a start in the direction of cleaner and better government.

STREETS OF TOMORROW.

Automobiles have created more problems than the gasoline tax question; they are actually changing the form and the laws of some of the largest cities in the United States. With 17,000,000 cars now in operation and 3,400,000 more to be brought into operation before the end of this year, big towns are finding that they must find some relief for traffic congestion.

New York and Chicago naturally are suffering from this congestion more than other cities. Both places are experimenting with double-decked streets as the only way out of the difficulty. A New York railroad has offered to elevate its tracks for the length of the Manhattan shore line, building a vehicular way on a double deck above the trains and allowing for a surface route beneath.

A leading automobile manufacturer predicts that streets of tomorrow will be from 120 to 340 feet wide, and that the same will be true of main highways leading into centers of population. All rail traffic, he thinks, will soon have to go underground, while elevated ways, perhaps two or three stories high, will be established for autos. The pedestrian will reign supreme on the artificially lighted street levels, and need have no fear of money wrenches dropped from airplanes.

Not only New York and Chicago, but big cities everywhere are fighting for street space. More than one which boasts of rather narrow main streets has had cause to curse the layout made by its founder. Most European cities are greatly handicaped by narrow streets, which in some places practically bar the use of autos, and the same reason is liable to restrict their use in towns on this side of the water.

Faced with such examples of real necessity for traffic space, smaller cities, even those no larger than Lincoln, should see to it that they will not be blamed by a future generation of motorists for the lack of wide roadways that they might now easily acquire.

More Truth Than Poetry

CONFESSIONS WE NEVER HEAR.

I invented the strap
To which people hang in the cars;
I'm the identical chap,
And I'm not covered over with scars.
Up to this time I have not
Permitted the public to know,
But I am the person who got
The passengers hung in a row.

It was a neat little trick.
Just as I thought it would be;
Millions of good people kick,
And I fear they would like to kick me;
They cling and they swing and they sway,
Packed like sardines in a can;
I was inspired one day,
It was then that strap-hanging began.

"Why let 'em sit as they ride?"
That was the thought that I had;
"Hang a row up at each side;
Let 'em complain and get mad.
Dangling won't hurt 'em a bit,
There are many who need it, no doubt;
All day they do nothing but sit,
They'll be better for being stretched out."

So I invented the strap,
The stockholders' nice little friend;
In cities all over the map
Strap-hanging's done without end.
It's very scant praise that I get,
They give me no laurels to wear;
I wonder if ever they'll set
My monument up anywhere?

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

WHAT ARE YOU SAVING FOR COMFORT IN THE SUNSET YEARS OF LIFE?

If you have reached the age of forty it is to be hoped that you have begun to think of getting something ahead for your non-productive years.

If you have good sense you have taken the advice of older men and began in your youth to provide for the lean years at the end.

But it is more than probable that you have had sick spells frequently and the fact that you cannot stand as much as in former years has made you realize that you are on the downward slide.

At any rate you have neither money nor opportunity to start in business which might bring you in the next fifteen years to carry you over the span of life over which you are worrying.

But you have a job and have established a certain plane of living, which leaves you little better off from one year's end to another.

And you cannot see how you are going to make much headway with the little stakes you save from year to year.

Don't worry foolishly but begin to cut expenditures. Take better care of yourself, keep up to the modern trend in your work and devote yourself more assiduously to your job and save more.

Ear Ache.

The most severe aches of childhood are earache and toothache. The child with an ear ache is always submitted to a host of "sure cures" by his mother or father before definite information concerning the cause has been obtained by the family physician.

"Sweet oil," laudanum, castor oil, or what not, is usually applied by the mother to stop the agony of the little one. The remedy that does the work of relieving the pain is credited as a great asset and is passed on as a "sure cure" to other mothers.

The child with an ear ache should always be carefully examined by a physician. The cause of the pain may be just a small boil in the ear canal; it may be a bean or other foreign body.

Usually ear ache is caused by an inflammation of the middle ear and, usually, spontaneously cures itself, if proper measures are instituted.

It is generally believed that when the ear drum ruptures, hearing is forever gone. This is far from true. In fact it is nature's way of curing ear inflammations, by causing the ear drum to break open. This allows the accumulation of the pus to make an exit from the ear and the pain usually subsides.

The drum membrane heals quickly after the infection back of it is gone.

Regardless of what might be said concerning the various ear drops it must be understood that no ear drop is useful unless it is warm. The ease of pain from ear ache is obtained from the heat that is allowed to enter the ear with various drops. The various oils, and laudanum, are worse than useless if they are not as warm as the child can stand.

Ear ache usually comes on at night, and the mother will use everything but the simplest and best remedy to stop the pain.

If you boil some water and then put a teaspoonful of the water, of bearable heat, into the child's ear and continue this procedure for several minutes the pain from a simple ear ache would soon subside. A hot water bottle over the ear is always appreciated.

Never should cotton or any other plug be put in the ear of a child.

In the morning take the child to a physician who can tell after careful examination, if the process is going to be a serious one. Ear ache is a "tricky" symptom and it may be a warning that a destructive process is going on that will cause the child to lose his hearing, or it can even cause death.

People's Forum

From a Caliofrnian.

LOS ANGELES, Calif, Feb. 27.—To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: Many years ago I came with my parents, into Nebraska, and we settled in Pawnee county. My parents came because of health conditions for myself. The doctors sail that I would have to have a dry climate if I was to outgrow the bronchial trouble that I had inherited. The following year, my brother, Newell Dwight Hillis, came home also, in a worse condition than I. I had come home into western Iowa, from Iowa state university, not able to speak out loud. My brother came to Pawnee City with very little hope of life. He spent 13 years in Nebraska, in that dry climate, and in those years we had many dry ones, so dry that no crops were raised.

My brother, with a horse and buggy, went into Sunday school work and pushed on west. A. Touzalin was general manager for the B. & M. railroad, pushing toward Denver. Mr. Touzalin would notify my brother that he had bought a quarter or half section of land, that there was a house on it, and that they should get a Sunday school before they got a saloon on it. He finished his work in Wyoming, in the Rocky Mountains having outgrown the difficulty.

I have traveled across the continent fifty-one times from ocean to ocean, I have gone many times from Mexico to Canada, have been in all of the states of the Union, except Florida and Vermont, have been in five provinces in Canada, and much as I love Nebraska, I think I have found the ideal place to live.

This is a great state. If a man wants work, he can work 365 days out of the year here, if he wants winter, he can find it on top of the mountain, or if he wants the land of sunshine and climate that can be surpassed nowhere, he can find that also. If he wants to be a cattleman, there is the opportunity; if he wants to be a raneher, he finds the door open; if he has some chosen profession, he can find a place for that; if he wants to do day labor, he can find an opening for that; if he manufactures anything, he will find the opportunity. If he raises anything and wants to send it away, right here in Los Angeles is the second greatest harbor in the United States, except in New York, who surpassed it last year. There are six great transcontinental lines into the city: The Ogden, Shasta and the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific. Their employes number 11,757 in the city and vicinity, with a payroll of $1,500,000 a month. There are 5,700 manufacturing establishments where they employ over 17,000. The total manufacture for 1923 amounted to $1,151,643,537. It is estimated that when the totals are made for 1924 it will exceed $1,200,000,000.

The water for this city is brought in over 300 miles, from the Sierra mountains, enough water for two million people, and plans are now under consideration to bring in water from the Colorado river, that will take care of ten million people. We have a lot 182 feet deep by 50 feet wide, and we have not yet had a notice that we could not have all the water we wanted for our lawn, flowers and trees. We have lived in Ohio, Illinois, and Washington, and have had such notices served on us in summer months when there was a water shortage.

I have traveled to the Atlantic coast and back 51 times, and I have found cities of ten thousand people and up, in the middle west and east where the street car fare was from 7 to 8 and 10 cents. During all this time the Los Angeles Railway Co. has carried passengers at 5 cents, and given service equal to any town or city in the United States.

There are 47 parks with 4,753 acres. There are 243,516 telephones, this is equivalent to about 1 telephone to every 4, men, women and children in the city.

We have a nine-room house; compare the cost of heating that, with the cost of heating your own home this winter. The highest bill that we have had to pay this winter for fuel for one month, has been $13.89. Remember, that does all the cooking, heats the house, and heats the water for baths. We have a young man and his wife in the house with us, a young woman with us from Omaha, and they get their meals, and that is the total cost.

Come out to one of our picnics, two of them each year, February and August. Meet people who have come from Nebraska and you can't find one of them who wants to go back. Many of our friends have come from Pawnee county, and from other counties where I have been in Sunday school work, all of them are glad to be here.

I do not know, Mr. Editor, that you will care to use this, but I just felt that I would like to have many of the friends, whom I know, throughout the state, and whom my brother knew, just what a wonderful place there is, here in the United states. The trip from the middle west out here is worth a year in college. This is a great state. You can step on the train at Needles, on the Arizona-California line, on the Santa Fe railroad, after eating your supper, go to bed and the next morning, at daylight or nearly 6 o'clock, you cross the line out of the county, over into Los Angeles county. Rather a large county, isn't it? And the state is pust as large according, in every way.

Come and see us, "Nebraskans." Former citizens will welcome you. —W. A. HILLIS.

P. S.—Did you say roads? Yes, come and see what roads we have. You can ride thousands of miles, and you are on paved roads all the time, equal to streets of many cities. You can go the length of the state, nearly a thousand miles of paved roads.

BERLIN—The German railway company has paid Seymour Parker Gilbert, commissioner general for reparations, the sum of 100,000,000 gold marks, representing the first semi-annual installment of interest due March 1, on the reparation bonds of the railway company. Payment was made by a credit of an equivalent sum in reichmarks to the account of Mr. Gilbert in Reichsbank.

ANOTHER SUPERVISING BOARD

The long pending row over agricultural legislation has broken as a result of the statement issued by Chairman Carey, of the president's farm commission, denouncing the Dickinson bill.

As a result of the issues raised by Mr. Carey, it is certain there will be no agricultural legislation at this session which is about to end. It is likely to provide the high lights for the next session of congress.

Chairman Carey's statement with reference to the Dickinson bill is worthy of attention. As a substitute for the Capper-Haugen measure, it provides nothing further than to create an advisory agricultural council of fifty-members, who are to make two junkets to Washington each year and who wil receive $25 a day for their services for the time they put in. In addition the bill provides four $10,000 a year jobs for other advisors, who will work under the department of agricultural economics.

The Capper-Haugen measure, which the Dickinson bill superseded, placed supervisory restrictions upon co-operative marketing, and in the opinion of several competent farm workers would have been a backward step.

Most significant, however, is the attitude of the representatives of the various farm agencies with reference to the proposed legislation. Almost without exception these farm leaders object to both pieces of legislation. They indicate that they are now overburdened with advice. As a rule most of it has been worthless. And while they do not want to see another governmental agency created for the purpose of "advising" they are more positive in their opposition to a governmental agency interfering and meddling with the organizations which they have been instrumental in developing. Advice can be rejected but supervision cannot be overlooked or discounted.

The farm commission named by President Coolidge submitted specific recommendations. It points out there was no halfway zone between placing agriculture upon stilts, along with manufacturing, or in permitting it to work out its own salvation through the operation of natural economic laws. There were certain steps which could be taken, the commission found, which would be of immense benefit to agriculture. The first urgent need was lower transportation costs. The attitude of the administration with reference to railroad legislation is sufficiently well-known to preclude discussion. On the subject of co-operative marketing, the commission insisted that it should be encouraged. Presumably the Capper-Haugen bill represented the views of the commission. The fierce resentment against governmental interference in business provides a formidable barrier for any measure which would tend to revive abuses.

Those who are clamoring for agricultural legislation have overlooked the significance of the recent appointment of a new secretary of agriculture. President Jardine, of the Kansas Agricultural college, was one of the few executives of institutions of this character, who took a pronounced and bitter stand against the McNary Haugen bill. He has been and still is bitter opposed to any attempt to cure the farm situation through legislation. Mr. Coolidge was cognizant of this fact when he appointed Mr. Jardine to succeed the late Secretary Wallace. The president could not have taken a more definite method of communicating his ideas of farm legislation. There will be no artificial assistance for agriculture with Mr. Jardine directing the affairs of the federal department.

If the farmer secures relief from the government, it will be because some of the assistance now granted to industry is withdrawn. A revision of the tariff would tend to re-establish the parity between the farmer and the manufacturer.

The farmer is endeavoring to fight his own battle. He does not want any expert advice from a council of fifty at the taxpayers' expense. He is opposed to any supervisory boards or agencies which take more of the public funds. Either he is going to be subsidized by the government in the same fashion as the manufacturer now is or he isn't. He does not want to be fed hot air and supervisory boards.

A REVISED VERSION OF THE CHERRY TREE STORY.

What twisted idea led a number of young men in the Jamaica high school in Gotham to send out this invitation to a George Washington party?:

"Let's get the good fellows together and make believe Castillian Gardens at Lynbrook, L. I., is our fathers' cherry orchard. Our dear friend George set the example, so let's follow by 'cutting up' whatever cherry trees are left. The day is February twentieth, the bids are three and a half dollars. Whatever else is necessary (for instance, hatchets) you can have on your hips or any other convenient place."

Fathers and mothers of the young men and the young women are naturally indignant and are demanding that the principal of the school make an investigation with a view to punishing the guilty. Those who attended the party are insistent that no liquor was served notwithstanding the fact that the invitation seemingly indicated a dance spree at a public roadhouse.

On the cover of the invitations was a jovial George Washington with a hatchet in one hand standing beside a felled tree. Instead of cherries, the tree contained bottles of various sizes and descriptions. Coupled with the wording of the invitation, the parents and the school authorities felt that an explanation is due from the organization which sponsored the party.

Youth is unthinking and careless but is it really as bad as this would seem to indicate. There are enough heartaches in the fact that young men and young women have so little respect for themselves and for their parents as to arrange a public dance at which liquor played the prominent part. But the thought that while thousands of boys and girls in the country were reciting the quaint little cherry tree story as a lesson in honesty, other young men and young women were twisting it to fit a liquor party, is sufficiently appalling to create the furore which it has. If there was not a drop of liquor at the dance, the invitations which were prepared constitute an insult to the patriotism of the country. Boys and girls and young men and young women must be taught the lesson of reverence.

KANSAS CITY CHANGES BOSSES.

With fewer than one-third of its qualified voters taking part in the election, Kansas City has decided to try out the city manager form of government. Next November it will elect a council of nine members, one of whom will serve as mayor. The council will employ the manager and turn the active direction of municipal affairs over to him.

Heretofore, Kansas City's government has been operated by an archaic system which was long ago discarded by most enlightened cities in the west. The mayor and other executive officers are elected every two years. The city council now consists of two branches, called an upper and a lower house, the members being elected by wards and on party tickets. As half of the membership holds over at each election, it is difficult, if not impossible, for the people to get what they want by voting for a change of administration.

Under this method of doing things, two party machines have been developed for the sole and only purpose of getting the offices and filling the appointive places with their henchmen. It made little difference to the citizens at large whether the republicans or the democrats won. In either event, the community was ruled by a little gang of politicians intent on feathering their own nests. Nothing could be done except through "the organization."

For years, the real dominating power in Kansas City's local government has been "Boss" Prendergast. Without his approval it was found exceedingly difficult to get anything through the two-house council. If one branch showed a little independence at times, the other could be relied on to do the boss's bidding. Naturally such conditions led to corruption and scandals which were constantly being aired in newspapers.

It is little wonder the voters of Kansas City have grown so disgusted with this Tammanyized system that those of them who felt interested enough to vote upon the proposition gave a majority in favor of trying something else. They doubtless felt that nothing could be worse than what they have. And so, the Kaw metropolis is going to try out the city manager plan.

In other words, the people of Kansas City are tired of their present boss and will welcome a new one. They have grown so used to autocracy that it will be nothing new to have the city government virtually run by one man.

It is to be hoped that things will notwork out in this instance as they did with the frogs who grew tired of King Log because of his do-nothingness and voted to have King Stork, a live go-getter, rule over them instead. The stork, it will be remembered, was exceedingly fond of a frog diet, and the mortality rate among the inhabitants increased so rapidly after he took charge that in a short time public sentiment veered back again to the side of King Log.

There is no question that Kansas City ought to have a new deal. It is one of the most progressive and virile communities in the United States, and it deserves something better than to be ruled after the fashion of a principality in the middle ages. If the move now being made does not bring the expected results, no doubt something else will be worked out later. The encouraging thing is that Kansas City has at last made a start in the direction of cleaner and better government.

STREETS OF TOMORROW.

Automobiles have created more problems than the gasoline tax question; they are actually changing the form and the laws of some of the largest cities in the United States. With 17,000,000 cars now in operation and 3,400,000 more to be brought into operation before the end of this year, big towns are finding that they must find some relief for traffic congestion.

New York and Chicago naturally are suffering from this congestion more than other cities. Both places are experimenting with double-decked streets as the only way out of the difficulty. A New York railroad has offered to elevate its tracks for the length of the Manhattan shore line, building a vehicular way on a double deck above the trains and allowing for a surface route beneath.

A leading automobile manufacturer predicts that streets of tomorrow will be from 120 to 340 feet wide, and that the same will be true of main highways leading into centers of population. All rail traffic, he thinks, will soon have to go underground, while elevated ways, perhaps two or three stories high, will be established for autos. The pedestrian will reign supreme on the artificially lighted street levels, and need have no fear of money wrenches dropped from airplanes.

Not only New York and Chicago, but big cities everywhere are fighting for street space. More than one which boasts of rather narrow main streets has had cause to curse the layout made by its founder. Most European cities are greatly handicaped by narrow streets, which in some places practically bar the use of autos, and the same reason is liable to restrict their use in towns on this side of the water.

Faced with such examples of real necessity for traffic space, smaller cities, even those no larger than Lincoln, should see to it that they will not be blamed by a future generation of motorists for the lack of wide roadways that they might now easily acquire.

More Truth Than Poetry

CONFESSIONS WE NEVER HEAR.

I invented the strap
To which people hang in the cars;
I'm the identical chap,
And I'm not covered over with scare.
Up to this time I have not
Permitted the public to know,
But I am the person who got
The passengers hung in a row.

It was a neat little trick,
Just as I thought it would be;
Millions of good people kick,
And I fear they would like to kick me;
They cling and they swing and they sway,
Packed like sardines in a can;
I was inspired one day,
It was then that strap-hanging began.

"Why let 'em sit as they ride?"
That was the thought that I had;
"Hang a row up at each side;
Let 'em complain and get mad.
Dangling won't hurt 'em a bit,
There are many who need it, no doubt;
All day they do nothing but sit,
They'll be better for being stretched out."

So I invented the strap,
The stockholders' nice little friend;
In cities all over the map
Strap-hanging's done without end.
It's very scant praise that I get,
They give me no laurels to wear;
I wonder if ever they'll set
My monument up anywhere?

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

WHAT ARE YOU SAVING FOR COMFORT IN THE SUNSET YEARS OF LIFE?

If you have reached the age of forty it is to be hoped that you have begun to think of getting something ahead for your non-productive years.

If you have good sense you have taken the advice of older men and began in your youth to provide for the lean years at the end.

But it is more than probable that you have had sick spells frequently and the fact that you cannot stand as much as in former years has made you realize that you are on the downward slide.

At any rate you have neither money nor opportunity to start in business which might bring you in the next fifteen years to carry you over the span of life over which you are worrying.

But you have a job and have established a certain plane of living, which leaves you little better off from one year's end to another.

And you cannot see how you are going to make much headway with the little stakes you save from year to year.

Don't worry foolishly but begin to cut expenditures.

Take better care of yourself, keep up to the modern trend in your work and devote yourself more assiduously to your job and save more.

Ear Ache.

The most severe aches of childhood are earache and toothache. The child with an ear ache is always submitted to a host of "sure cures" by his mother or father before definite information concerning the cause has been obtained by the family physician.

"Sweet oil," laudanum, castor oil, or what not, is usually applied by the mother to stop the agony of the little one. The remedy that does the work of relieving the pain is credited as a great asset and is passed on as a "sure cure" to other mothers.

The child with an ear ache should always be carefully examined by a physician. The cause of the pain may be just a small boil in the ear canal; it may be a bean or other foreign body.

Usually ear ache is caused by an inflammation of the middle ear and, usually, spontaneously cures itself, if proper measures are instituted.

It is generally believed that when the ear drum ruptures, hearing is forever gone. This is far from true. In fact it is nature's way of curing ear inflammations, by causing the ear drum to break open. This allows the accumulation of the pus to make an exit from the ear and the pain usually subsides.

The drum membrane heals quickly after the infection back of it is gone.

Regardless of what might be said concerning the various ear drops it must be understood that no ear drop is useful unless it is warm. The ease of pain from ear ache is obtained from the heat that is allowed to enter the ear with various drops. The various oils, and laudanum, are worse than useless if they are not as warm as the child can stand.

Ear ache usually comes on at night, and the mother will use everything but the simplest and best remedy to stop the pain.

If you boil some water and then put a teaspoonful of the water, of bearable heat, into the child's ear and continue this procedure for several minutes the pain from a simple ear ache would soon subside. A hot water bottle over the ear is always appreciated.

Never should cotton or any other plug be put in the ear of a child.

In the morning take the child to a physician who can tell after careful examination, if the process is going to be a serious one. Ear ache is a "tricky" symptom and it may be a warning that a destructive process is going on that will cause the child to lose his hearing, or it can even cause death.

People's Forum

From a Caliofrnian.

LOS ANGELES, Calif, Feb. 27.—To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: Many years ago I came with my parents, into Nebraska, and we settled in Pawnee county. My parents came because of health conditions for myself. The doctors sail that I would have to have a dry climate if I was to outgrow the bronchial trouble that I had inherited. The following year, my brother, Newell Dwight Hillis, came home also, in a worse condition than I. I had come home into western Iowa, from Iowa state university, not able to speak out loud. My brother came to Pawnee City with very little hope of life He spent 13 years in Nebraska, in that dry climate, and in those years we had many dry ones, so dry that no crops were raised.

My brother, with a horse and buggy, went into Sunday school work and pushed on west. A. Touzalin was general manager for the B. & M. railroad, pushing toward Denver. Mr. Touzalin would notify my brother that he had bought a quarter or half section of land, that there was a house on it, and that they should get a Sunday school before they got a saloon on it. He finished his work in Wyoming, in the Rocky Mountains having outgrown the difficulty.

I have traveled across the continent fifty-one times from ocean to ocean, I have gone many times from Mexico to Canada, have been in all of the states of the Union, except Florida and Vermont, have been in five provinces in Canada, and much as I love Nebraska, I think I have found the ideal place to live.

This is a great state. If a man wants work, he can work 365 days out of the year here, if he wants winter, he can find it on top of the mountain, or if he wants the land of sunshine and climate that can be surpassed nowhere, he can find that also. If he wants to be a cattleman, there is the opportunity; if he wants to be a rancher, he finds the door open; if he has some chosen profession, he can find a place for that; if he wants to do day labor, he can find an opening for that; if he manufactures anything, he will find the opportunity. If he raises anything and wants to send it away, right here in Los Angeles is the second greatest harbor in the United States, except in New York, who surpassed it last year. There are six great transcontinental lines into the city: The Ogden, Shasta and the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific. Their employes number 11,757 in the city and vicinity, with a payroll of $1,500,000 a month. There are 5,700 manufacturing establishments where they employ over 17,000. The total manufacture for 1923 amounted to $1,151,643,537. It is estimated that when the totals are made for 1924 it will exceed $1,200,000,000.

The water for this city is brought in over 300 miles, from the Sierra mountains, enough waters for two million people, and plans are now under consideration to bring in water from the Colorado river, that will take care of ten million people. We have a lot 182 feet deep by 50 feet wide, and we have not yet had a notice that we could not have all the water we wanted for our lawn, flowers and trees. We have lived in Ohio, Illinois, and Washington, and have had such notices served on us in summer months when there was a water shortage.

I have traveled to the Atlantic coast and back 51 times, and I have found cities of ten thousand people and up, in the middle west and east where the street car fare was from 7 to 8 and 10 cents. During all this time the Los Angeles Railway Co., has carried passengers at 5 cents, and given service equal to any town or city in the United States.

There are 47 parks with 4,753 acres. There are 243,516 telephones, this is equivalent to about 1 telephone to every 4, men, women and children in the city.

We have a nine-room house; compare the cost of heating that, with the cost of heating your own home this winter. The highest bill that we have had to pay this winter for fuel for one month, has been $13.89. Remember, that does all the cooking, heats the house, and heats the water for baths. We have a young man and his wife in the house with us, a young woman with us from Omaha, and they get their meals, and that is the total cost.

Come out to one of our picnics, two of them each year, February and August. Meet people who have come from Nebraska and you can't find one of them who wants to go back. Many of our friends have come from Pawnee county, and from other counties where I have been in Sunday school work, all of them are glad to be here.

I do not know, Mr. Editor, that you will care to use this, but I just felt that I would like to have many of the friends, whom I know, throughout the state, and whom my brother knew, just what a wonderful place there is, here in the United states. The trip from the middle west out here is worth a year in college. This is a great state. You can step on the train at Needles, on the Arizona-California line, on the Santa Fe railroad, after eating your supper, go to bed andthe next morning, at daylight or nearly 6 o'clock, you cross the line out of the county, over into Los Angeles county. Rather a large county, isn't it? And the state is pust as large according, in every way.

Come and see us, "Nebraskans." Former citizens will welcome you. —W. A. HILLIS.

P. S.—Did you say roads? Yes, come and see what roads we have. You can ride thousands of miles, and you are on paved roads all the time, equal to streets of many cities. You can go the length of the state, nearly a thousand miles of paved roads.

BERLIN—The German railway company has paid Seymour Parker Gilbert, commissioner general for reparations, the sum of 100,000,000 gold marks, representing the first semi-annual installment of interest due March 1, on the reparation bonds of the railway company. Payment was made by a credit of an equivalent sum in reichmarks to the account of Mr. Gilbert in Reichsbank.

CORNERSTONE IS LAID AT WYMORE

Governor McMullen Participates In Ceremonies In Former Home.

Special to The Star.

WYMORE, Neb., March 2.—The cornerstone of Wymore's new $200,000 high school building was laid Saturday afternoon. Governor Adam McMullen came to the town, his boyhood home, delivered the principal address at the ceremonies and with the trowel in his own hand spread the cement that united the cornerstone to the wall of the new building, now fast nearing completion, which occupies a block of ground jointly with the old school building from which the governor, with a class of ten other students, was graduated thirty-six years ago. Elaborate arrangements had been made, but owing to inclement weather and a wet snow falling most of the afternoon, the program and ceremonies had to be curtailed, and it was necessary to stretch canvas over the cornerstone laying to protect participants from the weather.

The governor's automobile was nearly an hour late arriving from Lincoln on account of slippery roads and large delegations who started from Beatrice, the nearest point of the governor and from other neighboring towns, were unable to attend. The greater part of the ceremony was transferred to the assembly room of the old school building. After music by the Wymore band, the Rev. D. G. Pumphrey, of the Baptist church pronounced the invocation, and F. E. Crawford, a member of the board of education, read the history of the schools of Wymore.

The members of the present board of education who are also the building committee of the new building, are: Will L. Jones, D. K. Windle, F. E. Crawford, W. J. Kelly, Robert S. Jones, and James Ragan, all of whom were present at the ceremonies, and whose names with "1925" are engraved on the 350-pound corner stone at the northeast corner of the school building. The first named is president, and the second, secretary, of the board. The contractor, George M. Robertson, and the architect, Fiske and Meginnis, of Lincoln, also took their places with the notables.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-wather drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

CORNERSTONE IS LAID AT WYMORE

Governor McMullen Participates In Ceremonies In Former Home.

(Special to The Star.)

WYMORE, Neb., March 2.—The cornerstone of Wymore's new $200,000 high school building was laid Saturday afternoon. Governor Adam McMullen came to his own, his boyhood home, delivered the principal address at the ceremonies, and with the trowel in his own hand, he spread the cement that united the cornerstone to the wall of the new building, now fairly well under construction, which occupies a block of ground jointly with the old school building from which the governor, with a class of ten other students, was graduated thirty-six years ago. Elaborate arrangements had been made, but owing to inclement weather and a wet snow falling most of the afternoon, the program and ceremonies had to be curtailed, and it was necessary to stretch a canvas over the cornerstone laying to protect participants from the weather.

The governor's automobile was nearly an hour late arriving from Lincoln on account of slippery roads, and large delegations expected from Beatrice, the recent home of the governor, and from other neighboring towns, were unable to attend. The greater part of the ceremony was transferred to the assembly room of the old school building. After music by the Wymore band, the Rev. D. G. Pumphrey, of the Baptist church pronounced the invocation, and F. E. Crawford, a member of the board of education, read the history of the schools of Wymore.

The members of the present board of education who are also the building committee of the new building, are: Will L. Jones, D. K. Windle, F. E. Crawford, W. J. Kelly Robert S. Jones, and James Ragan, all of whom were present at the ceremonies, and whose names with "1925", are engraved on the 330-pound corner stone at the northeast corner of the school building. The first named is president, and the second, secretary, of the board. The contractor, George M. Roberson, and the architect, Fiske and Meginnis, of Lincoln, also took their places with the notables.

Pitch and Duck, Demaree's Rule For Babe Ruth

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher N Y Giants)

Like almost all long distance hit ters Babe grips his bat at the ex treme end and takes a vicious free full swing at the ball Ruth has wonderful eyesight and remarkable co ordination between his eyes and his muscles Pitchers have tried to dope out his weakness If he has any for years and have given him more attention than any hitter in the history of the game They have thrown him every kind of ball in the calendar but he still keeps slamming em over the fence The only rule so far discovered for pitching to his weakness is—'Pitch and duck!'

Peru Normal practically cinched another conference basketball championship last week when when Coach Lon Graf's Bobcats handed Nebraska Wesleyan a double defeat in an important series of games on the Methodist and Nor mal courts With three games re maining on the slate the Peru vians have a record of ten victories and no defeats and must win but two of the home contests to finish ahead of Wayne Normal and cop the bunting

York Hastings and Doane are the three barriers remaining ahead of the Peru team and as this trio was rather easy for Peru on foreign soil there is every reason to believe that they will offer little more than pas sive resistance on the Normal court

Wayne Passes Wesleyan

Wayne Normal stepped ahead of Nebraska Wesleyan and is now rid ing in second position a place in the conference standings it will likely hold unless Coach Fred Dale Wild cats slump and lose the final games to Midland college and Grand Island college this week Wayne smothered the Zebras and Luther ans in previous games and are fav ored to repeat with ease in the re turn engagements at Wayne

Peru's victories over Wesleyan established the Bobcats as easily the class of the conference circuit for a second consecutive season Graf's basketeers may have been presented with the Friday game at University Place when a basket of the gift order enabled Peru to edge out ahead 17 to 16 but there was nothing gratuitous about the Saturday session at Peru

Bobcats on Scoring Spree

In the second game of the series the Bobcats rang up eight points before the Methodists tarted scor ing and romped away with a 26 to 14 decision outscoring Wesleyan from the floor twelve baskets to six and flashing a brand of team work which swept the Dow five off its feet

Wayne's decisive trouncing of Midland college °° to ° after Wes leyan had won over the Lutherans in an extra period game shows he caliber of Dale's five this semester The addition of Hickman guard has strengthened the Wildcat five which has been all victorious after losing a one point decision in a game at Cotner which opened the season

Cotner Stock Takes Boom

The sensational climb of Cotner college stock was one of the fea tures of state conference play last week Coach Pid Parmintel's Bulldogs won four games on the road and climbed from ninth to fourth place Doane college also bettered its position by winning two of the three games played and hop ping from eleventh to seventh place Midland Dropped to fifth place Kearney slid to sixth position York was lowered to eight Grand Island slipped to tenth and Omaha university to eleventh Hastings college by breaking even in two games rose from tenth to ninth place

BEN STILL KEEN FOR YELLOW GOLD

Leonard Plotting Return To Ring; Big Coin In Sight With Mickey Walker.

BY DAVIS J WALSH

NEW YORK March — The fistic pot overflowing with choice and sele ted cauliflower will come to a boil within the next twenty four hours when Benjamin Leon ard the eminent actor arrives in town almost coincident with the expected decision of the state athletic com mission on the status of Harry Wills and Tom Gibbons

Leonard will be with us today and it is intimated that overtures will be made looking toward a pos sible reconsideration of his an nounced retirement from the manly art of sock em in favor of the manly art of holdum

The commission is expected to proclaim its attitude tomorrow to ward the proposal that Gibbons and Wills be matched in a two man elimination affair with the winner to meet Jack Dempsey Rumors on this subject are many and varied

Take Your Choice of Rumors

One of them is to the effect that official displeasure has been voiced against matching Gibbons and Wills at all

Another has it that the match is in the well and favorably known bag

A third alleged that Wills having filed the first challenge is at last to get his shot at Dempsey without further preamble Commissioner Jim Farley is known to favor this course of action with Muldoon and Rickard holding out for a Gibbons Wills meeting

As for Benjamin an actor owes a duty to his public and his ostensible is prompted by a desire to discharge the great obligation

Big Money in Prospect

But Billy Gibbons publicity de partment has been hinting rather broadly of the possibility that Ben jamin may step out with Mickey Walker this summer and it is not altogether unlikely that the great man will end the business with pleasure the latter being prevent ed by the acceptance of the $1 00 000 contract that is all set to go

However they may be some thing odoriferous in Denmark here Loose conversation about emerging from retirement will cause do de peciation of the general esteem in which Benjamin's act is held Neither will it injure the success of the motion picture which I am as sured he is soon to make

One More Shot at Dough.

We have been led to believe how ever that Leonard really means to strike himself to one more shot at the big money Close friends of the ex champion have assured me that he will fight Willie this summer and until something definite devel ops to the contrary I have no al ternative but to believe what I hear particularly since the story deals in freight train numbers for the purse

CHICAGO, March 2.—The international 18.2 balkline billiard tournament went into its semi-final stages today with Willie Hoppe, champion, and Jake Schaefer, his most formidable opponent, playing their last matches before they clash Tuesday.

Schaefer, who so far has furnished the sensations of the tournament, will meet H. Suzuki, Japanese star, this afternoon and Hoppe will take on Edouard Horemans, Belgium, tonight.

There is the possibility of a three-handed tie between Erich Hagenlacher, Hoppe and Schaefer. If Schaefer loses either his game today or tomorrow and Hoppe wins both his contests, while Hagenlacher is victor in his remaining game, the three men will be tied with four victories and one defeat.

Schaefer Best In Record.

Pitch and Duck, Demaree's Rule For Babe Ruth

By AL DEMAREE,
(Former Pitcher, N. Y. Giants.)

Like almost all long distance hitters, Babe grips his bat at the extreme end and takes a vicious, free, full swing at the ball. Ruth has wonderful eyesight and remarkable co-ordination between his eyes and his muscles. Pitchers have tried to dope out his weakness, if he has any, for years, and have given him more attention than any hitter in the history of the game. They have thrown him every kind of ball in the calendar, but he still keeps slamming 'em over the fence. The only rule so far discovered for pitching to his weakness is—"Pitch and duck!"

National league clubs will take about 80 recruits, or an average of 10 to a team, to the training camp this spring. More than half the "rookies" are pitchers.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

Peru Normal practically cinched another conference basketball championship last week when when Coach Lon Graf's Bobcats handed Nebraska Wesleyan a double defeat in an important series of games on the Methodist and Normal courts. With three games remaining on the slate, the Peruvians have a record of ten victories and no defeats and must win but two of the home contests to finish ahead of Wayne Normal and cop the bunting.

York, Hastings and Doane are the three barriers remaining ahead of the Peru team and as this trio was rather easy for Peru on foreign soil, there is every reason to believe that they will offer little more than passive resistance on the Normal court.

Wayne Passes Wesleyan.

Wayne Normal stepped ahead of Nebraska Wesleyan and is now riding in second position, a place in the conference standings it will likely hold unless Coach Fred Dale Wildcats slump and lose the final games to Midland college and Grand Island college this week. Wayne smothered the Zebras and Lutherans in previous games and are favored to repeat with ease in the return engagements at Wayne.

Peru's victories over Wesleyan established the Bobcats as easily the class of the conference circuit for a second consecutive season. Graf's basketeers may have been presented with the Friday game at University Place when a basket of the gift order enabled Peru to edge out ahead, 17 to 16, but there was nothing gratuitous about the Saturday session at Peru.

Bobcats on Scoring Spree.

In the second game of the series, the Bobcats rang up eight points before the Methodists started scoring and romped away with a 26 to 14 decision, outscoring Wesleyan from the floor, twelve baskets to six, and flashing a brand of teamwork which swept the Dow five off its feet.

Wayne's decisive trouncing of Midland college, 22 to 5, after Wesleyan had won over the Lutherans in an extra-period game, shows the caliber of Dale's five this semester. The addition of Hickman, guard, has strengthened the Wildcat five, which has been all victorious after losing a one-point decision in a game at Cotner which opened the season.

Cotner Stock Takes Boom.

The sensational climb of Cotner college stock was one of the features of state conference play last week. Coach "Pid" Parminter's Bulldogs won four games on the road and climbed from ninth to fourth place. Doane college also bettered its position by winning two of the three games played and hopping from eleventh to seventh place.

Midland Dropped to fifth place Kearney slid to sixth position, York was lowered to eight, Grand Island slipped to tenth and Omaha university to eleventh. Hastings college, by breaking even in two games, rose from tenth to ninth place.

Franklin Tossers Defeat Riverton

FRANKLIN, Neb., March 2.—Franklin high defeated Riverton in basketball here last week, 13 to 10. Franklin led throughout the game. The Franklin girls trounced the Riverton girls, 24 to 2. The Riverton reserves won over the Franklin reserves, 18 to 2.

Central City Winner.

OSCEOLA, Neb., March 2.—Central City high school defeated Osceola high in basketball Saturday night, 14 to 13.

Huskers Did Their Stuff

Cornhusker athletes were riding the crest of the success wave last week. Competing in four branches of intercollegiate sport, the Huskers did their stuff without a miss. The week's record follows:

Won three games of basketball, defeating Ames, Missouri and Creighton.

Defeated the Kansas Aggies in a swimming meet at Manhattan.

Downd Minnesota in a wrestling meet in Lincoln.

Competed in the annual indoor relays carnival at University of Illinois, where Roland "Gipp" Locke won two firsts in the sprints, "Choppy" Rhodes finished second in the all-around championship and Ed Weir ranked third and fourth in the two hurdle events.

Locke's performance included a mark of 7 3-5 seconds in the 75-yard dash, which tied the Illinois relays record.

Missouri Valley conference athletes performed in stellar style at Urbana, although the competition was keen and the company fast. The Ames Aggies won first in the medley and two Kansas U. athletes, Poor and Graham, tied for first in the high jump.

The National Town and Country club of Cleveland, O., plans expenditures of $1,500,000 on an 11-story clubhouse, to be erected in the city and $500,000 on the construction of a country clubhouse and two 18-hole golf courses. The club has set its membership limit at about 4,000.

BEN STILL KEEN FOR YELLOW GOLD

Leonard Plotting Return To Ring; Big Coin In Sight With Mickey Walker.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, March 2. — The fistic pot, overflowing with choice and selected cauliflower, will come to a boil within the next twenty-four hours when Benny Leonard, the eminent actor, arrives in town almost coincident with the expected decision of the state athletic commission on the status of Harry Wills and Tom Gibbons.

Leonard will be with us today, and it is intimated that overtures will be made looking toward a possible reconsideration of his announced retirement from the manly art of soak 'em in favor of the manly art of hokum.

The commission is expected to proclaim its attitude tomorrow toward the proposal that Gibbons and Wills be matched in a two-man elimination affair, with the winner to meet Jack Dempsey. Rumors on this subject are many and varied.

Take Your Choice of Rumors.

One of them is to the effect that official displeasure has been voiced against matching Gibbons and Wills at all.

Another has it that the match is in the well and favorably known bag.

A third alleged that Wills, having filled the first challenge, is at last to get his shot at Dempsey without further preamble. Commissioner Jim Farley is known to favor this course of action, with Muldoon and Brower holding out for a Gibbons-Wills meeting.

As for Benjamin, an actor owes a duty to his public and his visit ostensibly is prompted by a desire to discharge the great obligation.

Big Money in Prospect.

But Billy Gibson's publicity department has been hinting rather broadly of the possibility that Benjamin may step out with Mickey Walker this summer and it is not altogether unlikely that the great man will combine business with pleasure, the latter being represented by the acceptance of the $200,000 contract that is alleged to go with the Walker meeting.

However, ther may be something odoriferous in Denmark here. Loose conversation about emerging from retirement will cause do depeciation of the general esteem in which Benjamin's act is held. Neither will it injure the success of the motion picture, which, I am assured, he is soon to make.

One More Shot at Dough.

We have been led to believe, however, that Leonard really means to stake himself to one more shot at the big money. Close friends of the ex-champion have assured me that he will fight Walker this summer and until something definite develops to the contrary, I have no alternative but to believe what I hear, particularly since the story deals in freight train numbers for the purse.

Seven foreign countries will be represented in the New York state athletic commission's lightweight championship elimination tournament—Italy, France, Germany, England, Cuba, Canada and South America.

Strayer Booked To Fight Evans On Omaha Card

OMAHA, March 2.—Owing to the refusal of State Boxing Commissioner Kilmartin to allow "Kid" Worley of Shelton to fight within six days after he has engaged in a bout at Peoria, Ill., Battling Strayer, Lincoln lightweight, will meet "Rusty" Evans, junior lightweight of York, in the main event of the Elks' fight card here tonight. The match will be a ten-rounder.

Dick Grotte, chairman of the Elks athletic committee, shifted Strayer, who was to have fought Jack Higgins, Omaha lightweight, to the main event and obtained Roy Beecher of Lincoln to fight Higgins.

Roy A. Coffman of Council Bluffs, Ia., and Mike Dale of Grand Island will meet in the semi-windup.

Bridgeport Plans Baseball Season

BRIDGEPORT, Neb., March 2.—Bridgeport will have an independent baseball team this season and will play games with any town in the state. Following failure to get a berth in the Northwestern Nebraska league, which will play the season with eight teams, a movement was at once started to organize an independent team and a meeting has been called to complete arrangements. The ball park at the south edge of town will be scraped, a new fence and grandstand built and practice will be started by the prospective members of the team when weather permits.

Douglas Fairbanks
in his greatest screen classic
"The Thief of Bagdad"

Such popularity must be deserved

THE magic carpet of the Thief of Bagdad! The greater magic of Douglas Fairbanks, whose very name packs theatres to the doors!

Mr. Fairbanks has won success in many roles, Chesterfield in but one.

Yet both have achieved their immense popularity by the simple process of deserving it.

Downright better taste—that's the "magic" of Chesterfield! What else could account for such popularity?

NEW YORK STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK March
Stock prices gave an impressive demonstration of strength in today's active market Several high priced rails including Atchison reached record prices In unmarked buoyancy was shown by a number of oils motors public utilities shipments and steels Buying apparent ly was based on speculative expectations for sharp improvement in business within the next few weeks Total sales approximated 1 000 000 shares

Rising prices marked the resumption in trading in the stock market today with heavy buying of the oil shares promoted by merger reports and prospects of another increase in mid continent crude prices Demand for other popular industrials embraced Baldwin American Locomotive American Can and American Smelting which scored gains of about a point

With pivotal issues assuming the leadership of the advance a resumption of pool operations was encouraged in many parts of the list and the entire market headed upward American Can jumped 4½ points to a record high at 179 and U S Steel moved up a point Buying orders were spread over a variety of oil shares lifting the pan American issues Marland Pacific and Atlantic refining 1 to 1½ points Laclede Gas however yielded points of its recent 7 point rise on profit taking Foreign exchanges opened easy

Suggestions of larger dividends on some of the gilt edged railroad shares accounted for the buoyancy of that group in the morning trading Atchison after pushing through its record high of 175 established in 1909 shot up to a new record figure at 1 87½ Only a handful of issues failed to participate in the advance Commercial Solvents issues being the only weak outstanding spot Marking up of the renewal rate on call money at 4½ per cent failed to check the rising trend of prices the be t exhibitions of group strength being given by the public utilities equipment rails and and minor motors American Smelting Mack Truck Remington Typewriter and Vanadium steel were among the issues to sell or more points above last week s closing quotations

St Paul preferred was heavy and Radio Corporation dropped seve al points but the general list worked considerably higher in the afternoon High priced stocks were in de ided favor American can reaching 180¼ and Mack Truck General Electric Sears Roebuck and Nash Motors climbing 3 to 4 points the Rock Island and southwestern railroad issues ruled materially highe n some of the specialties were bu t n bull operations

The closing was strong

GRAIN MARKETS

CHICAGO Ill March
Although wheat today jumped up to $1 07 a bushel May delivery the first time the market had been back to $1 or above since the recent drop to $1 17⅞ the gains today were followed by a sharp break There was heavy profit taking on the bulge and the United States visible decrease was less than expected Prices closed nervous at 3¼@4c net decline to 1@c advance May $1 06⅝@ 1 07 and July $1 01¾@1 01⅝

WHEAT—With unofficial estimates current that except for a single instance domestic farm stocks of wheat 112 000 000 are the smallest in twenty years the wheat market today soared far above $2 a bushel May delivery Right at the outset the market touched $ but then heavy profit taking sales led to a setback to $1 98⅛ May Aggressive [illegible] which took place May reached $2 02 and July established a new high price record for the season The opening which aried from 1 cent decline to 1¼c advance with May $1 99 to $2 and July $1 71¾ to $1 72 was followed by many rapid changes within limits of about 4 cents

Subsequently friends of higher prices were handicapped by the fact that export business was only fair and on visible relative smallness of the U S visible supply decreased

CORN—Farm stocks of corn were unofficially estimated as being the smallest on record barring only two exceptions Under such circumstances corn values developed notable strength and oats sympathized somewhat After opening at 1@c to 3¼c decline May $1 04¾@1 04⅝ the corn market ascended to $1 06⅜ for May

Later the market receded on account of profit taking and wheat weakness Corn closed heavy ⅝ to 7@c net lower May $1 04½@1 05⅝

OATS—Oats started unchanged to ¾c off May 56@56¼c Later all months showed moderate gains

PROVISIONS—Provisions were sharply higher in line with hogs and corn

Assures Southern State Executives Butter Tax Dead

In a blanket letter addressed to the governors of Georgia Alabama Mississippi Arkansas and Oklahoma who recently transmitted to him official protests against the passage of legislation in Nebraska taxing imitation butter 10 cents a pound Governor McMullen informs them that the bill on this subject has been indefinitely postponed

He calls their attention at the same time to another measure pending before the Nebraska legislature which requires real butter to be bought and used by state institutions instead of the imitation product which contains cottonseed oil Its object he says is not to discriminate against the products of any other state but to foster and protect Nebraska's own dairy industry

Mr McMullen reminds his fellow executives that Nebraska is a large consumer of oil meal fed cattle and other live stock Cotton seed oil is one of the principal ingredients of that product In conclusion he pledges Nebraska's co operation with her sister states of the south in guiding up all branches of agriculture

Seed Corn of Higher Quality

Tests made by the seed testing bureau of the department of agriculture during the month of February indicate that seed corn this year is of a much higher quality than that of last year according to Miss Lyda Norris chief of the bureau

It is not unusual for samples to test one hundred per cent she said Last year the seed corn tested was of much poorer quality

The department is rapidly building up Miss Norris said and it is hoped that within a month or so the laboratory will again be placed back on the list of certified laboratories and come up to the standard requirements

Tabernacle Church Holds Anniversary Observance Sunday

A celebration of the first anniversary of the dedication of the new Tabernacle Christian church was held Sunday Dr A I Hollings worth the speaker at the morning service and in the evening Dr S Mills Hayes former rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal church

At the morning service Dr Hollingsworth reviewed the activities of the church during the year and expressed considerable satisfaction at the results The membership was increased 113 or 30 per cent and $1 000 was raised for all purposes

Dr Hayes in tracing the development of Christianity over a period of three or four centuries stressed that the fundamentals of religion are not outgrown He commented on the breadth of the spirit of religion of the present day and averred that nothing that ending opinions to the contrary there is a decided call for the old type of righteousness

Special musical numbers rendered under the direction of Mrs I I Iverson featured the evening service Prof William Quick of the University of Nebraska and A W Naruszewicz assisted

LINCOLN MUST WAIT FOR NEW DEPOT--HOLDEN

say that they want a union station and within a short time they assure the rail officials that they want a Burlington station The official said that as soon as sentiment in the city is definitely and solidly behind one project the railroad company will take definite action

Mr Holden said that he did not consider the present the time for taking up the station matter the budget being already out and that nothing could be done before 1927 unless the road were forced to do something sooner It is not easy to handle these things he said as building a depot for his own road alone would be much different from building a union station If it is to be the latter it must be known how many roads are to be accommodated and the extent of the facilities they are to require The roads must be figured out and all of these things require a great deal of time

The Lincoln men were assured by President Holden that he has the situation in this city in mind as has also one of the directors but he word having a few ground sketches made no action whatever has been taken This inaction he declared was due to the lack of definite information as to just what the people here want

The Burlington president assured the visitors that whatever the road eventually decided to do the result would be highly pleasing to the people of this city He also gave them to understand that if the present agitation continued and it became positively and definitely known just what the people here want the road might be able by June of the present year to say just what it will do Nothing however can be started until 1927 unless as President Holden said the road is forced into it

Flynn Makes Comment

Lincoln will get a new Burlington station within a reasonable time after sufficient assurances have been made that the union depot question has been settled here according to General Manager J Flynn of Omaha who accompanied the local chamber of commerce committee on its trip to see President Hale Holden of the Burlington

Of course there could be no definite guarantee made but if the chamber of commerce and other civic organization were certain that the union depot plan would be given no more support we would consider that enough said Mr Flynn

Such assurance was made two years ago when the chamber of commerce passed a resolution but since that time this union depot bill has been introduced into the legislature and brought up the whole question again At the time of the resolution this railroad nor any other was spending money on new stations

The Burlington has always been willing to build a union depot on the site of its station if the other roads want to come in Mr Flynn asserted and is still willing to do so if the people wish it and the other railroads wish it He has no late information on their attitude towards the subject

The chief difference between a Burlington and a union depot would be in the track layout Some difference in size would also be necessitated but not much But the track layout is a problem large enough to make it certain that no plans whatsoever can be made until the depot question is settled

NEW YORK STOCK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, March 2.

Stock prices gave an impressive demonstration of strength in today's active market. Several high priced rails, including Atchison, reached record prices while marked buoyancy was shown by a number of oils, motors, public utilities, equipments and steels. Buying apparently was based on speculative expectations of a sharp improvement in business within the next few weeks. Total sales approximated 1,600,000 shares.

Rising prices marked the resumption in trading in the stock market today with heavy buying of the oil shares promoted by merger reports and prospects of another increase in mid-continent crude prices. Demand for other popular industrials embraced Baldwin, American Locomotive, American Can and American Smelting which scored gains of about a point.

With pivotal issues assuming the leadership of the advance, a resumption of pool operations was encouraged in many parts of the list and the entire market headed upward. American Can jumped 3½ points to a record high at 179 and U. S. Steel moved up a point. Buying orders were spread over a variety of oil shares, lifting the pan-American issues, Mariand, Pacific and Atlantic refining 1 to 1½ points. Lacleded Gas, however, yielded 2 points of its recent 7 point rise on profit taking. Foreign exchanges opened easy.

Suggestions of larger dividends on some of the gilt-edged railroad shares accounted for the buoyancy of that group in the morning trading. Atchison after pushing through its record high of 125⅝ established in 1909, shot up to a new record figure at 128⅞. Only a handful of issues failed to participate in the advance. Commercial Solvents issues being the only weak outstanding spot. Marking up of the renewal rate on call money at 4½ per cent failed to check the rising trend of prices, the best exhibitions of group strength being given by the public utilites, equipments, oils and and minor motors. American Smelting, Mack Truck, Remington Typewriter and Vanadium Steel were among the issues to sell 2 or more points above last week's closing quotations.

St. Paul preferred was heavy and Radio Corporation cropped several points but the general list worked considerably higher in the afternoon. High priced stocks were in decided favor. American Can reaching 180¼, and Mack Truck, General Electric, Sears-Roebuck and Nash Motors climbing 3 to 4 points. The granger and southwestern railroad issues ruled materially higher, and some of the specialties were buoyant on bull operations.

The closing was strong.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 2.

Although wheat today jumped up to $2.02 a bushel, May delivery, the first time the market had been back to $2 or above since the recent drop to $1.77½, the gains today were followed by a sharp break. There was heavy profit taking on the bulge and the United States visible decrease was less than expected. Prices closed nervous at 3¼c net decline to ¼c advance. May $1.96⅝@1.97 and July $1.70¼@1.70¼@¾.

WHEAT—With unofficial estimates current that except for a single instance domestic farm stocks of wheat, 112,000,000, are the smallest in twenty years, the wheat market today soared far above $2 a bushel, May delivery. Right at the outset, the market touched $2, but then heavy profit taking sales led to a setback to $1.98⅛ May. Aggressive fresh buying ensued and on the rise, which took place, May reached $2.02 and July established a new high price record for the season. The opening, which varied from 1 cent decline to 1½c advance, with May $1.99 to $2 and July $1.71¼ to $1.72, was followed by many rapid changes within limits of about 4 cents.

Subsequently friends of higher prices were handicapped by the fact that expert business was only fair and by the relative smallness of the U. S. visible supply decreased.

CORN—Farm stocks of corn were unofficially estimated as being the smallest on record barring only two exceptions. Under such circumstances, corn values developed notable strength, and oats sympathized somewhat. After opening at ⅛c to ¾c decline, May $1.34½@1.34¾, the corn market ascended to $1.36⅝ for May.

Later the market receded on account of profit taking and wheat weakness. Corn closed heavy, ⅝ to ⅞c net lower, May $1.34½@1.35⅝.

OATS—Oats started unchanged to ¾c off, May 55@55¼c. Later all months showed moderate gains.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were sharply higher, in line with hogs and corn.

A Church In Canada Razed By Tremors

QUEBEC, March 2. — The Roman Catholic church at St. Hiliarion, sixty miles from here was demolished during the earthquake of Saturday night, it was reported here today by the agent of marine and fisheries at Cape Salmon.

Worshippers who had filled the church a few moments before, left just before the quake, so that none was injured.

The edifice was only two years old and was considered one of the finest stone structures in Canada.

Assures Southern State Executives Butter Tax Dead

In a blanket letter addressed to the governors of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and Oklahoma, who recently transmitted to him official protests against the passage of legislation in Nebraska taxing imitation butter 5 cents a pound, Governor McMullen informs them that the bill on this subject has been indefinitely postponed.

He calls their attention, at the same time, to another measure pending before the Nebraska legislature, which requires real butter to be bought and used by state institutions, instead of the imitation product which contains cottonseed oil. Its object, he says, is not to discriminate against the products of any other state but to foster and protect Nebraska's own dairy industry.

Mr. McMullen reminds his fellow executives that Nebraska is a large consumer of oil meal, fed to cattle and other live stock. Cotton seed oil is one of the principal ingredients of that product. In conclusion, he pledges Nebraska's co-operation with her sister states of the south in building up all branches of agriculture.

Seed Corn of Higher Quality

Tests made by the seed testing bureau of the department of agriculture during the month of February indicate that seed corn this year is of a much higher quality than that of last year, according to Miss Elva Norris, chief of the bureau.

"It is not unusual for samples to test one hundred per cent," she said. "Last year the seed corn tested was of much poorer quality."

The department is rapidly building up, Miss Norris said, and it is hoped that within a month or so the laboratory will again be placed back on the list of certified laboratories and come up to the standard requirements.

Endorses New Federal Bureau

Establishment of a federal bureau of civil air navigation and the supervision of safety regulations, air dromes and aircraft, was endorsed today by the liaison committee of the Lincoln chamber of commerce. Regulation of the qualification of air crews and the establishment and enforcement of air rules was also advocated.

The committee announced that it intends to make an effort to have a full representation from Lincoln at the meeting of the national chamber at Washington, May 20 to 22.

PASS ORDINANCE ON HOUSE MOVING

Council Also Approves Closing of Seventh Street As Requested by Board.

Passage of two ordinances took up a greater part of the time of the city council at its meeting Monday afternoon. One, an amendment to the house-moving ordinance, gives the council the right to permit by resolution, the moving of buildings larger than those prescribed in the present statutes. The other closes Seventh street from F to G.

Passage of the two ordinances was requested by the board of education, to expedite its building program.

It was understood by the council that the board of education will bear any expense incident to the cutting of heavy transmission wires of the city, which it was stated, would be necessary in moving large houses.

To Audit Books.

Another resolution approved provides for the employment of an auditing firm at an expense not to exceed $1,500 to audit the city's books.

Other ordinances on third reading provided for the creation of paving districts: One embraces Worthington from Harrison avenue to Garfield Park, and the other W street from Thirtieth to Thirty-third.

Commissioner Cowgill reported that the remodeling of the building at 245 South Eleventh street, as proposed by Floyd Rawlings, could not be done under the ordinances. He also offered a resolution prohibiting the parking of automobiles on the east side of Seventeenth street from O to P street.

A request for paving the alley between B and C and Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets was referred to the street department.

MANY VESSELS IN WAR GAMES

Fifty-Two Warships Move To Mobilization Point Off Coronado Islands.

(Associated Press.)

NAVAL BASE, SAN PEDRO, Cal., March 2.—Fifty-two vessels of the battle fleet today moved to a mobilization point off the Coronado islands from where will start one of the greatest games of naval strategy every staged in the Pacific ocean, as the first step in a series of spectacular fleet maneuvers extending over two months. More than a hundred fighting ships will participate.

Under the ten day maneuver plan, the great naval force based here as the strong arm of the United States in the Pacific, moves off shore in the role of an enemy fleet. It has become the "black" fleet and its mission is to invade the Pacific coast and establish a base of operations as the first move in a "war" against the United States.

Tabernacle Church Holds Anniversary Observance Sunday

A celebration of the first anniversary of the dedication of the new Tabernacle Christian church was held Sunday. Dr. A. J. Hollingsworth was the speaker at the morning service, and in the evening Dr. S. Mills Hayes, a former rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal, spoke.

At the morning service Dr. Hollingsworth reviewed the activities of the church during the year, and expressed considerable satisfaction at the results. The membership was increased 113, or 30 per cent; and $15,000 was raised for all purposes.

Dr. Hayes, in tracing the development of Christianity over a period of three or four centuries, stressed that the fundamentals of religion are not outgrown. He commented on the breadth of the spirit of religion of the present day, and averred that, nothwithstanding opinions to the contrary, there is a decided call for the old type of righteousness.

Special musical numbers under the direction of Mrs. E. R. Ryerson featured the evening service. Prof. William Quick of the university, Lee Hemingway of the university orchestra, and A. W. Naruszewigz, assisted.

Mr. Holden said that he did not consider the present the time for taking up the station matter, the budget being already out, and that n

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

Farmers Are Ambitious.

Dear Minerva: I feel I must say a few words in answer to the young woman who accused the farmers of being poor sports.

We are not poor sports, we are just more ambitious. Take my husband's family, for instance. He has several brothers there in Lincoln making good wages. They and their families spend everything as they make it. What do they want of life? A high old time and they have it. They seem to be content. But when one of them needed an operation he even had to borrow money to pay the man who took him to the hospital and it was a long time before he got the hospital bill paid.

And as for us, when we were married a farm of our own in ten years was our goal. We had absolutely nothing to start on. Well the ten years is nearly up, we have worked hard and we have saved and all we have to show is a thriving little family and a good outfit to farm with. We have crop failures aplenty and poor prices for our good crops. But when we need an operation (we had three in our family in three years) we sold hogs and grain and paid our bills.

Doctor bills have been our largest expense and poor health is discouraging to a young mother with a big family but we are just anxious for spring to get here so we can see what we will make this year. We hope that farm will be ours before long because we are not poor sports, we are just ambitious. F. V.

A Youthful Heiress.

Dear Minerva: I am a girl in high school. I am in the senior year and am going with a boy one year my senior. I care very much for him and feel as though he does for me. I have joined a girl's club in our school called the moonlight flirts and these girls think they are more attractive than I am and are trying to get him away from me. He talks in the halls to them at noon and when I pass he never pays any attention to me. He always writes me two notes a day and walks home with me after school and stays with me until time for dinner. I live alone in a five-room bungalow and haven't anything to do only keep my house clean. My folks died while I was still young and left me over $60,000 by monthly payments and a home which was kept by my aunt until three months ago when she passed away. Now I am alone in a town of 9,000 and have everything a girl could want. My boy friend has asked me to become his wife and I don't know whether to or not. His parents are classed as poor and my cousin tells me he is marrying me for my money. Now Minerva shall I marry him or not? I love him dearly and I believe I could be happy.

And what colors suit dark hair, black eyes and a girl who is five feet eight and a half inches tall and weighs 125 and is called good looking. And are dresses made plain or pleated? Are high heels a good choice for shoes for street wear or are the low heel oxfords better? Wondering Jackie.

A. It is not right for you to be living alone. If you have no relatives you should have a companion of some sort with you. Some older woman who has no home would be happy to live with you and keep house for you. It is too bad to think about marrying when you are so young and inexperienced. With your independence in finances you should study music, go through college, travel, see life and make something of your own life.

I believe if you would take a summer trip, travel about a bit that your ambitions would be aroused and you would not be so ready to marry the first boy that asks you.

The blues and greens would probably be becoming to you. So much depends upon the coloring however that it is difficult to suggest becoming colors.

The low heels are much better for street wear.

A Missing Line.

Dear Minerva: Some time ago you printed a poem which I remember all but one line. Would you please supply the missing line? It must have been a year since you published this. E. D. B.

A. Can any reader please supply the missing line. I have searched my scrap books in vain for the poem.

Post-Mortem Praises:

"I've noticed when a fellow dies, no matter what he's been—
A saintly chap or one whose life
was darkly steeped in sin—
His friends forget the bitter words
they spoke but yesterday,
And now they find a multitude of
pretty things to say.
I fancy when I go to rest, some one
will bring to light
A kindly word or goodly act long
buried out of sight.
But, if it's all the same to you, just give me instead
The boquets while I'm living and
the knocking when I'm dead.
Don't give your kisses to imprint
upon my marble brow,
While countless maledictions are
hurled upon me now;
Say just one kindly word to me
while I mourn here alone,
And don't save all your eulogy to
carve upon a stone.
What care I if when I'm dead the
old Rand Daily Mail
Give space for sketches of my youth a long three-column wail.
It will not flatter me a bit, no matter what is said;
So kindly throw your boquets now
and knock me when I'm dead.
It may be fine, when one is dead, to
have the folks talk so;
To have the flowers come in loads
from relatives, you know;
It may be nice to save these things
for those you leave behind
But just as far as I'm concerned I
(missing line here)
I'm quite alive and well today and
while I linger here
Just change the game a little bit,
just kindly swap the decks
For I'll be no judge of flowers when
I've cashed in my checks."

DES MOINES, Mar. 2.—James F. Barton of Des Moines, announced today his acceptance of the position of national adjutant of the American Legion.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Advertisement.

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

How to Solve It

Every number indicates the beginning of a word—if horizontal, crosswise, until the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, downwards until the first shaded stop below. Compare the synonyms in the appended lists to the spaces in the diagrams and fill in the words you know. These will give you clues to the more difficult words. When completed the words should interlock perfectly.

Her Freedom

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

Dorthy Carey hates the idea of marriage because neither her mother's marriage nor her sister Elaine's has been a success. She determines to maintain her freedom, and, rising from secretary to the editor of a woman's magazine, she is offered the position of assistant, to Ruth Sibley, the fiction editor. Miss Sibley is going to be married and Dorothy is promised the job if she makes good.

CHAPTER VII

A Nest of Her Own

When Ruth Sibley left the offices of Woman's Apparel, Dorothy was given the position of fiction editor. Of course, her new work brought her in closer contact with Harvey Collins than she had ever been before. To be sure, she no longer took his dictation nor made out his checks. There was a new secretary, a pale girl with prominent blue eyes who some day would be intrusted with those things. But Dorothy was now on a basis of equality with Harvey Collins. They discussed the policy of the magazine with reference to a story or an article, and if Dorothy were sure of herself she argued her point. The fact that Harvey Collins was editor of the magazine made no difference to the girl. She was not intimidated by him, and the relationship between them was more like a partnership than anything else.

Dorothy's salary had been raised to $75 a week. Ruth Sibley had received more, and if Dorothy continued to make good her salary would be raised in accordance. But she was entirely satisfied with things as they were and $75 seemed a princely amount to receive each week.

A dream that for a long time she had suppressed began to take shape in her mind. She wanted to leave home and take an apartment of her own. Of course, she would still continue to give her mother a part of her salary, but she felt now that she could spread her wings a little wider and still further into the realm of her delicious freedom.

When she first mentioned this at home, her mother was shocked. "I don't understand you at all, Dodo," she exclaimed. "Why should you want to live alone? It isn't right for a girl to have such ideas, and your place is with your parents until you marry."

"But I don't intend to marry," Dorothy returned quickly.

Mrs. Carey shrugged her thin shoulders. Even with her own dreams of happiness dead forever, she could not think of anything but marriage for Dodo. She did not even take the girl's position seriously, but thought of it merely as a stop-gap between her early youth and the time when she would meet and love some man. But when she saw that Dorothy was serious in her intentions, she took refuge in tears. "Of course, if you're not happy with us, you must do as you think best. I'm sorry that things can't be different here. I know your father is a great trial for us to bear, but somehow things are easier with you to help me."

At the time Dorothy said nothing more. Her mother's last remark had made her feel conscience-stricken, and yet afterward, when she thought things over, it seemed manifestly unfair.

Hadn't she a right to her own life? Why was it necessary for the weak to lean on the strong? She was willing and eager to help her mother, but after all she had her rights as an individual, there was no reason why she shouldn't consult her own wishes and do as she pleased with her life. Then, too, there were several practical reasons why she wanted to make a change. She wanted to take a place farther downtown where she would be nearer the office. At night, when she was tired, it was an effort to face the subway crush, and once before when she had mentioned living down town, her mother had flatly refused to consider such a thing. She wanted to be near Elaine, and rents were more expensive downtown. Steve couldn't afford it, and, although at the time Dorothy had realized the truth of this, she felt now that she herself should be given some small measure of consideration.

It was with this thought in mind that she began to follow the advertisements in the morning papers, and one day during her lunch hour she went to look at a couple of apartments. One turned out to be beyond her means, but the other was almost, if not exactly, what she wanted. It was on lower Fifth avenue quite near her office. It had one large room and a small alcove bedroom. There was a tiny kitchenette and a bathroom brave with white tiles. The place was furnished and could be sublet as it was until the fall, when the lease would be turned over if desired.

Yielding to impulse, Dorothy paid a deposit on the place, and immediately afterward felt as if she had done something terribly wrong.

Tomorrow—A Dinner Party.

No Cold Tomorrow If You Do This Now

At the first sign of a cold—that's the time to treat it.

Millions do it with hot lemonade. They take one when they first suspect a cold. Then get into bed, under warm covers.

In the morning, in nine cases out of ten all traces of the cold have disappeared.

This is the treatment that saves millions from pneumonia and the "flu"—those who didn't wait too long.

Just squeeze the juice of a lemon in a glass or cup of hot water. The effectiveness of hot lemonade is due to more than its heat. Add sugar if you wish.

Get a dozen California lemons now and keep them always in the house—ready for colds.

They make the most effective lemonade for colds. — Advertisement.

Dazzling, White Teeth

Here is the quick, new way dentists are widely urging

Make this unique test. Give your teeth high polish and fresh new color simply by removing the dingy film that coats them and invites decay and gum troubles.

THIS offers you a simple, scientific test—one judged the most remarkable of all dental tests.

In a short time you can work a transformation in their color and their luster.

Modern science has evolved a new and radically different method which successfully removes the dingy film that imperils healthy teeth and gums.

Simply send the coupon. Don't think your teeth are naturally "off color" or dull. This will prove they are not.

Film—the enemy of beautiful teeth and healthy gums

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film—a vicious coat that covers them.

That film is an enemy to your teeth—and your gums. You must remove it.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy, "off color" look. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

Tooth troubles and gum troubles now are largely traced to that film. Old-time methods fail in successfully combating it.

New methods remove it. And Firm the Gums

Now in a new-type dentifrice, called Pepsodent, dental science has discovered effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it, then to firm the gums.

Ordinary methods fail in these results.

Harsh, gritty substances are judged dangerous to enamel.

Thus the world has turned, largely on dental advice, to this new method.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

Farmers Are Ambitious.

Dear Minerva: I feel I must say a few words in answer to the young woman who accused the farmers of being poor sports.

We are not poor sports, we are just more ambitious. Take my husband's family, for instance. He has several brothers there in Lincoln making good wages. They and their families spend everything as they make it. What do they want of life? A high old time and they have it. They seem to be content. But when one of them needed an operation he even had to borrow money to pay the man who took him to the hospital and it was a long time before he got the hospital bill paid.

And as for us, when we were married a farm of our own in ten years was our goal. We had absolutely nothing to start on. Well the ten years is nearly up, we have worked hard and we have saved and all we have to show is a thriving little family and a good outfit to farm with. We have crop failures a'plenty and poor prices for our good crops. But when we need an operation (we had three in our family in three years) we sold hogs and grain and paid our bills.

Doctor bills have been our largest expense and poor health is discouraging to a young mother with a big family but we are just anxious for spring to get here so we can see what we will make this year. We hope that farm will be ours before long because we are not poor sports, we are just ambitious. F. V.

A Youthful Heiress.

Dear Minerva: I am a girl in high school. I am in the senior year and am going with a boy one year my senior. I care very much for tim and feel as though he does for me. I have joined a girl's club in our school called the moonlight flirts and these girls think they are more attractive than I am and are trying to get him away from me. He talks in the halls to them at noon and when I pass he never pays any attention to me. He always writes me two notes a day and walks home with me after school and stays with me until time for dinner. I live alone in a five-room bungalow and haven't anything to do only keep my house clean. My folks died while I was still young and left me over $60,000 by monthly payments and a home which was kept by my aunt until three months ago when she passed away. Now I am alone in a town of 9,000 and have everything a girl could want. My boy friend has asked me to become his wife and I don't know whether to or not. His parents are classed as poor and my cousin tells me he is marrying me for my money. Now Minerva shall I marry him or not? I love him dearly and I believe I could be happy.

And what colors suit dark hair, black eyes and a girl who is five feet eight and a half inches tall and weighs 125 and is called good looking. And are dresses made plain or pleated? Are high heels a good choice for shoes for street wear or are the low heel oxfords better? Wondering Jackie.

A. It is not right for you to be living alone. If you have no relatives you should have a companion of some sort with you. Some older woman who has no home would be happy to live with you and keep house for you. It is too bad to think about marrying when you are so young and inexperienced. With your independence in finances you should study music, go through college, travel, see life and make something of your own life.

I believe if you would take a summer trip, travel about a bit that your ambitions would be aroused and you would not be so ready to marry the first boy that asks you.

The blues and greens would probably be becoming to you. So much depends upon the coloring however that it is difficult to suggest becoming colors.

The low heels are much better for street wear.

A Missing Line.

Dear Minerva: Some time ago you printed a poem which I remember all but one line. Would you please supply the missing line? It must have been a year since you published this. E. D. B.

A. Can any reader please supply the missing line. I have searched my scrap books in vain for the poem.

Post-Mortem Praises:

"I've noticed when a fellow dies, no matter what he's been—
A saintly chap or one whose life
was darkly steeped in sin—
His friends forget the bitter words
they spoke but yesterday,
And now they find a multitude of
pretty things to say.
I fancy when I go to rest, some one
will bring to light
A kindly word or goodly act long
buried out of sight.
But, if it's all the same to you, just
give me instead
The boquets while I'm living and
the knocking when I'm dead.
Don't give your kisses to imprint
upon my marble brow,
While countless maledictions are
hurled upon me now;
Say just one kindly word to me
while I mourn here alone,
And don't save all your eulogy to
carve upon a stone.
What care I if when I'm dead the
old Rand Daily Mail
Give space for sketches of my youth a long three-column wail.
It will not flatter me a bit, no matter what is said;
So kindly throw your boquets now
and knock me when I'm dead.
It may be fine, when one is dead, to
have the folks talk so;
To have the flowers come in loads
from relatives, you know;
It may be nice to save these things
for those you leave behind
But just as far as I'm concerned I
(missing line here)
I'm quite alive and well today and
while I linger here
Just change the game a little bit,
just kindly swap the decks
For I'll be no judge of flowers when
I've cashed in my checks."

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Advertisement.

Her Freedom

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

Dorthy Carey hates the idea of marriage because neither her mother's marriage nor her sister Elaine's has been a success. She determines to maintain her freedom, and, rising from secretary to the tditor of a woman's magazine, she is offered the position of assistant, to Ruth Sibley, the fiction editor. Miss Sibley is going to be married and Dorothy is promised the job if she makes good.

CHAPTER VII
A Nest of Her Own

When Ruth Sibley left the offices of Woman's Apparel, Dorothy was given the position of fiction editor. Of course, her new work brought her in closer contact with Harvey Collins than she had ever been before. To be sure, she no longer took his dictation nor made out his checks. There was a new secretary, a pale girl with prominent blue eyes who some day would be intrusted with those things. But Dorothy was now on a basis of equality with Harvey Collins. They discussed the policy of the magazine with reference to a story or an article, and if Dorothy were sure of herself she argued her point. The fact that Harvey Collins was editor of the magazine made no difference to the girl. She was not intimidated by him, and the relationship between them was more like a partnership than anything else.

Dorothy's salary had been raised to $75 a week. Ruth Sibley had received more, and if Dorothy continued to make good her salary would be raised in accordance. But she was entirely satisfied with things as they were and $75 seemed a princely amount to receive each week.

A dream that for a long time she had suppressed began to take shape in her mind. She wanted to leave home and take an apartment of her own. Of course, she would still continue to give her mother a part of her salary, but she felt now that she could spread her wings a little and soar still farther into the realm of her delicious freedom.

When she first mentioned this at home, her mother was shocked. "I don't understand you at all, Dodo," she exclaimed. "Why should you want to live alone? It isn't right for a girl to have such ideas, and your place is with your parents until you marry."

"But I don't intend to marry," Dorothy returned quickly.

Mrs. Carey shrugged her thin shoulders. Even with her own dreams of happiness dead forever, she could not think of anything but marriage for Dodo. She did not even take the girl's position seriously, but thought of it merely as a stop-gap between her early youth and the time when she would meet and love some man. But when she saw that Dorothy was serious in her intentions, she took refuge in tears. "Of course, if you're not happy with us, you must do as you think best. I'm sorry that things can't be different here. I know your father is a great trial for us to bear, but somehow things are easier with you to help me."

At the time Dorothy said nothing more. Her mother's last remark had made her feel conscience-stricken, and yet afterward, when she thought things over, it seemed manifestly unfair.

Hadn't she a right to her own life? Why was it necessary for the weak to lean on the strong? She was willing and eager to help her mother, but after all she had her rights as an individual, there was no reason why she shouldn't consult her own wishes and do as she pleased with her life. Then, too, there were several practical reasons why she wanted to make a change She wanted to take a place farther downtown where she would be nearer the office. At night, when she was tired, it was an effort to face the subway crush, and once before when she had mentioned living down town, her mother nad flatly refused to consider such a thing. She wanted to be near Elaine, and rents were more expensive downtown. Steve couldn't afford it, and, although at the time Dorothy had realized the truth of this, she felt now that she herself should be given some small measure of consideration.

It was with this thought in mind that she began to follow the advertisements in the morning papers, and one day during her lunch hour she went to look at a couple of apartments. One turned out to be beyond her means, but the other was almost, if not exactly, what she wanted. It was on lower Fifth avenue quite near her office. It had one large room and a small alcove bedroom. There was a tiny kitchenette and a bathroom brave with white tiles. The place was furnished and could be sublet as it was until the fall, when the lease would be turned over if desired.

Yielding to impulse, Dorothy paid a deposit on the place, and immediately afterward felt as if she had done something terribly wrong.

Tomorrow—A Dinner Party.

TALKS TO BOYS.

The dangers and temptations which lie in the path of almost every boy were explained Saturday night in a lecture to the Saturday Evening club by Dr. Miles J. Breuer, at the Y. M. C. A. After discussing his topic in a plain, frank manner, Dr. Breuer tressed the importance of boys maintaining friendships with the finer type of girls. Their influence is an essential thing in the life of any boy, he said.

The Saturday Evening club is made up mainly of news boys and boys who have to work.

No Cold Tomorrow If You Do This Now

At the first sign of a cold—that's the time to treat it.

Millions do it with hot lemonade. They take one when they first suspect a cold. Then get into bed, under warm covers.

In the morning, in nine cases out of ten all traces of the cold have disappeared.

This is the treatment that saves millions from pneumonia and the "flu"—those who didn't wait too long.

Just squeeze the juice of a lemon in a glass or cup of hot water. The effectiveness of hot lemonade is due to more than its heat. Add sugar if you wish.

Get a dozen California lemons now and keep them always in the house—ready for colds.
